Blaine Asks Proofs Of Severson Attack On Capitol's Morals

Iola Senator Accuses Governor Of Trickery In Revenue
Legislation Fight

ANSWERS WAUPACA SPEECH

State Executive Charged With Lobbying Against Investigation At Madison

By Associated Press
Madison—Governor Blaine in a telegram Wednesday to Senator H. J.
Severson, demanded that the senator name state officials charged by him in a speech Tuesday night at Waupaca with assaulting girls in locked capitol offices. The executive declared that he would remove promptly any official named by Senator Severson if his charge is proved.

Following is the telegram in full,
sent by Governor Blaine:

"The Milwaukee Sentinel quotes
you having said at Waupaca Tuesday night: 'It was charged that women had been locked in offices and assaulted by state officials in the capitol.'
The fact that women are assaulted in the capitol may not mean much to office holders who are drawing a fat salary.

"If your allegations refer to any state official whom the executive can remove it is your duty to bring the fact, if you have any before me and I will remove such state officers promptly, if the facts warrant it.

"Furthermore, you charge a criminal offense, punishable by imprisonment and it is your duty also to proceed in the courts and if you have information that any one assaulted a woman
it is your duty to give such information to the District Attorney of Dane-co and I will direct him to prosecute criminally.

"I demand that you name the state officials, the time and place of the alleged offenses, and that you immediately present the facts you claim to have before executive board and the district attorney. This demand is as emphatic as your duty is imperative."

SEVERSON REPLIES

Senator H. J. Severson dictated a statement in reply to Governor Blaine's telegram, from his office in Iola Wednesday in which he declared that "it is very strange that the governor now is anxious to get information concerning alleged assaults on girls in capitol offices when he and his official family pulled every string during the legislature to defeat a move to get a full and complete investigation of these charges as they should be investigated under oath and subpoena."

The LaFollette Progressive senator said that the governor should call a special session of the legislature. "I will then give him an opportunity to get behind a move for an investigation, not alone of this charge but of others equally serious," he asserted.
"Then the facts can be determined under oath."

"Governor Blaine is asking me to do what he himself should do," Senator Severson said. "Instead of trying to hide facts, he should have been seeking them. The night before, a vote on the resolution for a senate investigation, four or five members of the executive's official family were lobbying in the senate and using every possible influence to defeat the move. The senators who voted killed the investigation later were given state jobs."

Italy Claims Diamond Zita Wants To Sell

By Associated Press
Rome—The Italian government has warned former Empress Zita of Austria that if she sells the famous Florentino diamond as she threatens to do in view of the financial difficulties in which she finds herself, the transaction will not be valid inasmuch as the stone is Italian property.

The gem, which weighs 139 1/2 car-ats, was claimed from the Hapsburgs by Italy under the Versailles treaty.
The late ex-emperor Charles and his wife took it with them when they fled from Austria and during their stay in Switzerland the diamond was pawned.

The government has also notified
Zita that it is desirous of preserving in their entirety its rights to manuscripts in the Modena library and other objects belonging to the crown of Tuscany, which was sent to Vienna in the eighteenth century.

OFFICIAL RESIGNS FROM CONTROL BODY

Director Of Juvenile Department Accuses Chairman Of Obstructing Efforts

By Associated Press
Madison—Dr. Maybelle Park, director of the juvenile department of the State Board of Control, resigned
Wednesday. Accompanying her resignation was a letter to the board of control scoring the policy of that board.

An attempt was made by the board in a rider attached to a bill in the last session of the legislature, to remove the office of Dr. Park from civil service. Charge was made on the floor at that time that the desire was to open up the civil service in order to permit easy removal of employees, and the bill met death in the senate.

Dr. Park says in her letter that Mrs.
Elizabeth Kadrig, chairman of the board, has refused to grant her an audience to discuss her work and that continued obstacles have been thrown in her way.

"In view of these facts, I cannot continue impotently to share the burden of your responsibility when the cry of these neglected children is finally heard by the voters of the state," Dr. Park wrote. "With such hampering conditions as those imposed by the board, nothing constructive can be accomplished."

The entire board of control was appointed by Governor Blaine.

ABLE MEN ARE TO SPEAK AT LEPPLA FARM

Program With Fundamental Discussions Is Arranged
For Aug. 9

Extensive to which the farmer is handicapped in making a profit from his business as compared with the city business man will be determined in part through the topics which are to be taken up at the second of the city-farm discussion meetings at the Harry Leppla farm, town of Greenville,
Thursday evening, Aug. 9.

The program with three primary subjects was prepared by a committee at a meeting at the Leppla farm Tuesday night. Those who attended were Herman Ide of Neenah, chairman, W. G. Jamison and R. J. Schaefer, Greenville, and John J. Sherman, Appleton. Dr. D. O. Kinsman, the fifth member, was unable to be present.

CAFETERIA SUPPER
This meeting will be conducted like the initial gathering last week. Farmers and city men are to take their wives and a basket lunch. Supper will be served on the Leppla lawn at 7 o'clock in cafeteria style and the meeting in the open air will follow.

D. K. Allen, district attorney of Winnebago, and a man well versed on farm matters both from practical experience and contact with farming activities, is to speak on the subject,
"Is Farming on a Paying Basis at the Present Time? If not, why not?"

DISCUSS MARKETING
The other proposed speakers have not been seen by the committee to obtain their consent. The committee wants either Dr. D. O. Kinsman or Judson G. Rosebush of Appleton, to speak on the subject, "How Does Prosperity in the Rural Community Compare with that of the City?" The third topic is to be "Successful Marketing," and the committee hopes to secure Frank Swoboda, manager of the Wisconsin Cheese federation at Plymouth as the man to present it.

Much was said in discussions last week about the need of marketing power, and some constructive ideas are expected to be gained from presentation of the plan of selling cheese through a marketing body which is defined as the "Wall street of the cheese industry."

It is the plan of the committee to have the speakers present their subjects and to follow each talk with a discussion. The meeting will confine itself to these three topics so that the discussion will not become rambling, and in order to accomplish as much as possible in the time allotted.

The Leppla farm is located at the place familiarly known as Leppla's Corners. It is in the town of Greenville at the point where state trunk highways 18 and 38 intersect.

KANSAS CHIEF GLAD TO SERVE COUNTRY

J. M. Davis Accepts Proffer Of Democrats For 1924
Nomination

Chicago—While friends of Governor J. M. Davis of Kansas have put his hat in the ring for the Democratic presidential nomination, the governor who refrained from commenting to any great extent, was on his way Wednesday to Kansas City after two days in Chicago on state business.

While asserting he had no political ambitions, the governor indicated he would gladly accept any position in which he could be of service to his country, including the presidency and that since his fellow Democrats of Kansas had made him their first choice, he was "in their hands."

"I have no political ambitions," the governor stated.

The governor expressed himself as opposed to fixing of prices for the farmers' products.

"If the farmer can have a definite price fixed on his product, why not the baker and grocer and shoemaker be favored in similar manner," he remarked. "I am against class legislation."

LOCAL SHOE MAN TO SPEAK AT CONCLAVE

Milwaukee—The State Shoe Retailers association will convene at Hotel Pflister for its annual session from
Aug. 7 to Aug. 9 inclusive.

More than 500 delegates are expected to register at the convention headquarters at the Hotel Pflister.

Elaborate entertainment features are being planned. There will be fe-booths with trade displays open to the visitors in various rooms of the hotel during the convention.

RAIL MAN SAYS FARMERS' MOVE MAY HURT ROADS

Cut in Valuations Will Not Substantially Reduce Freight Rates

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Western farmers seeking a remedy for economic ills are likely to impose upon the entire country legislative policies permanent in their destructive effects, said Charles Dillon, assistant to the chairman of the western Railways' committee on Public Relations, speaking Wednesday before the convention of the National Association of Tea and Coffee Merchants.

"There are precedents in history,"
Mr. Dillon declared, "showing that men sometimes start movements whose results are different than had been expected or desired, and wholly beyond their intellectual power to control. In this class is the determination of certain forces supported by the farmers and some labor organizations to demand a reduction of eight or ten billion dollars in railroad valuations with the belief that the rates may thereby be lowered still further."

PRICE GAUGED BY COSTS
Railroad rates, Mr. Dillon said, are not likely soon to be further reduced while the costs of operation, not only upon railroads but in all the basic industries, continue upward.

"While costs of operating the railroads continue to increase through no act or fault of the management, it is not practicable to reduce freight rates because wheat prices decline.
Such a plan of rate-making cannot be adopted unless the roads are allowed to increase their rates when prices go up. No farmer will ever grow rich or even moderately prosperous by fighting the railroads or following false prophecy. The so-called champions of agriculture who have led many good farmers into this state of mind have created the impression that the railroads are rolling in money while the farmers suffer."

BANKS WILL FIGHT NEW STATE TAX LAW

tention. A court review of the statute is looked for during the next few months, following objections filed by the institutions of their assent.

mony to prove that John L. Whitfield armed himself with a .45 calibre automatic pistol before he started on his trip to the police station with Patrolman Griffin on May 11, featured the Whitfield murder trial Wednesday.
The defense bitterly fought Stanton's efforts to bring this testimony out through placing Detective Harry Brown on the stand to tell the story.
Mrs. Mary Whitfield, wife of the accused man, might have told had she not fled.

The argument was still under way
at the noon recess.

Brown is expected to repeat to the jury, the statement said to have been made to him by Mrs. Whitfield shortly after Griffin was killed, in which she alleged to have said her husband thrust a pistol in his pocket when he stepped into her bedroom to bid her good bye after being arrested by Griffin.

Eleven Ellington Cows Produce Over 50 Pounds Of Butterfat In Month

Four hundred-one cows were tested during July in the Ellington Cow Testing association, according to the report of L. E. Nelson, official tester. The average of the association for the month was 23.3 pounds of butterfat.

Eleven herds averaged 30 pounds or more of butterfat per cow for the month. The high cow for the month is owned by E. M. Breitrick, Hortonville, Route 1. She is Molly, a grade Guernsey, and she produced 1,397 pounds of milk testing 4.9 per cent, equivalent to 68.5 pounds of butterfat. This cow led the association last month also.

The second highest producing cow is Rose, a grade Guernsey owned by Rhinehart Puls, Hortonville, Route 1. She produced 1,426 pounds of milk testing 4.2 per cent, equivalent 59.9 pounds of butterfat.

Forty-six cows produced 40 pounds of butterfat during the month and eleven went over 50 pounds. The 50-pound cows and their records are:

ANGLERS PROTEST 'DRAINAGE CRIME'

Appleton Joins National Fight
On Draining Of Mississippi River Bottoms

A campaign has been started by the Isaac Walton League of America against an attempt to drain the Mississippi river bottoms from Lake Pepin, Minn., to Rock Island, Ill., on the ground that this drainage will remove spawning grounds of game fishes. The league says that hundreds of millions of baby bass and other game fish are rescued every year by the United States bureau of fisheries from the sloughs and bottoms along the river and these fish are planted in streams all over the middle west. If the bottoms are drained these breeding places will be destroyed and a severe blow will be dealt to the great sport of fishing.

The league contends that no possible good can come from the draining inasmuch as experts have declared that the reclaimed land will be worthless for farming. About 300 miles along the river is affected by the proposal.

Fishermen in Appleton are uniting in the campaign by sending letters to congressmen and to the president protesting against this "drainage crime of a century." Appleton is particularly interested because thousands of bass rescued from the Mississippi river bottoms have been planted in the Fox river, Lake Winnebago and other fishing places frequented by Appleton sportsmen.

MORE TOURISTS THAN HOME CARS ON STREET

Firemen Amazed At Vast Number
Of Tourists Passing
On Onondaga-st

Tourists on the state highways now outnumber the local or intercity travelers. That is at least the case on certain days at the intersection of Onondaga and Washington-sts., according to an occasional traffic count taken by members of the Appleton fire department. Although Wisconsin cars were by far in the majority, many of them were foreign cars.

A count taken between the hours of 1 and 2 on Saturday, July 21, showed that 431 vehicles passed in all directions. Of these 342 were Wisconsin cars, the remainder being as follows: Illinois 37, Michigan 1, Indiana 3, California 1, Missouri 2, Ohio 3, Minnesota 2. There were also 2 motorcycles, 3 single horses and 3 teams.

On the same day between 4 and 5 o'clock the count was: Wisconsin cars 357, Illinois and Minnesota 3 each, Oregon 1, Michigan 2, Washington 1, Iowa 1, California 1, Ohio 1, single horses 4, teams 4, total 416.

Traffic was considerable lighter on the day following, which was Sunday. An hour's count between 3 and 6 at supper time gave the following result: Total 416, Wisconsin vehicles 194, Illinois 20, Michigan 1, Missouri 2, Iowa 2, Pennsylvania 1, Minnesota 1, and no horse drawn vehicles.

ly suspected and ridiculed by the poverty-stricken, but independent people around her.

The role affords opportunity for a brilliant characterization by the Dean of the screen. A great mine catastrophe, for which mile long sections of tunnels and shafts were exploded, precipitates the climax in a smashing run of thrills.

Three "kid" players of picturedom are going to draw unusual comment from critics for work in minor roles. Richard Daniels, Frankie Lee and Nancy Caswell are the youngsters. They have not a great deal to do, but the nature of the story demanded "types" above all things, and the three kiddies offered type qualifications in addition to ability remarkable in children. All their work in the picture is not important. It is one of those deft touches in character atmosphere for which Hobart Henley is noted.

ON THE SCREEN

A FILM YOU CAN'T AFFORD TO MISS

Now playing at the Elite theatre, "The Abyssal Brute," a filmization of Jack London's famous story of the same name, closes its engagement to-night. Hobart Henley directed the production.

The role of Pat Glandon, Jr., is played by Reginald Denney, who starred in "The Leather Pushers." Mabel Julienne Scott has the role of the star, while Nell Craig, Irene Haisman and Dorothea Wolbert have other feminine roles. Buddy Messenger is the little limp of a brother and other players include Charles French, Hayden Stevenson, George Stewart, Crawford Kent, David Torrance, Harry Mann, Kid Wagner, Tom McGuire and others.

The story deals with the life of a clean-souled, big-hearted son of the open spaces who fared to the great city to match his strength against the greatest masters of the prize ring. He defeated all-comers, but succumbed before the gentle look of a woman, and then began his greatest battle.

FAMED NOVEL ADAPTED FOR FILM DRAMA

Priscilla Dean, long recognized as a leader in vital emotional work on the screen, is the star of "The Flame of Life," the Hobart Henley Universal-Jewel production coming to the Elite theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Hobart Henley, whose subtlety in human interest touches and details vital to characterization has made him a leading director, guided the filming. The story is based on Frances Hodgson Burnett's famous companion novel to "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Elliott Clawson adapted it to the screen.

Supporting Miss Dean are such popular screen players as Robert Ellis, Wallace Beery, Beatrice Burnham, Kathryn McGuire, Emmett Kline, Fred Kohler, Richard Daniels and Nancy Caswell.

The story is that of a girl who couldn't read or write, whose environment was that of a mining town in Northern England, whose life at home was composed mainly of beatings by her father, and whose only spur was the friendship of the overman of the mine, a friendship strong-

Vaughn Family Will Travel In Gipsy Style To West Coast

Former Superintendent Of Hayton Company Sells Property In Appleton

When Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vaughn and family, 656 Lawest, leave Appleton in about two weeks for the west they will go in true gypsy fashion, camping along the way and fishing and hunting as they go. The trip is being taken for the benefit of Mr. Vaughn's health who from September 1919 until June 1 of this year was general superintendent of the Hayton Pump and Blower Co. The family came to Appleton from Gibson City, Ill. in 1919. The home on Lawest has been sold and a disposal is being made of their furniture.

The family will make the trip with a Ford touring car and a one ton Ford truck. The use of Ford cars was the advice of several persons who have made similar trips across the country because they say they are well adapted to mountain country and repairs are easily secured.

A complete camping outfit will be taken along, including a camping kit large enough to accommodate a family of nine with the necessary aluminum cooking utensils and other dishes. A gasoline stove will be used for cooking because it will be practical for all kinds of weather and in many parts of the country it would not be possible to secure wood for open fires. A large size tent will furnish the residence for the family whenever they decide to stop for several days and will be covered for the night. Folding cots will be taken and the truck will be large enough for two full sized beds. The usual khaki camping attire will be worn by the entire family when traveling across country.

One of the most interesting parts of the outfit which will be taken is the complete radio set which the family has at present installed in the home. They plan to listen in every night after they have made camp. All the necessary fishing tackle and hunting equipment will be included.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn and family will go from Appleton to Waubesa, Minn. where they will visit relatives and from there on to Minneapolis for their second stop. The plan is to visit all their friends and relatives of which they have many on the way to the coast. The Yellowstone Trail will be followed practically all the way. Stops will be made at Bismarck, N. D., and Billings, Mont., as well as numerous other places. From Billings the Yellowstone river will be followed to Livingston, Wyo., where the trail turns to go into Yellowstone park. The family will camp for a week in the park.

After leaving the park the route will take them through Idaho where they will make several stops and on into Washington to Spokane where they will visit relatives. The Columbia river will be followed on to Portland, Ore., where probably a lengthy stop will be made.

Mr. Vaughn is not sure where they will eventually locate but from Portland on to Seattle, Wash., the family will be on the watch for a place to make their residence. The location will depend entirely on Mr. Vaughn's health. The family include besides Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn, Marvin B., Alara Bernadeen, Kenneth W., Harry N., Lillian R., Reisel I and John B.

SULLY WILL TELL WHY MERCHANTS SOMETIMES FAIL

Speaker Who Comes Here Monday Has Made Wide
Business Study

Failure of thousands of merchants and the success of thousands of others has been studied by G. W. Sully of Dayton, Ohio, who speaks here Monday, Aug. 6 under auspices of the chamber of commerce. His practical discussions on this subject will be given before the Lions club at a noon luncheon at Conway hotel, and at a meeting of merchants and salespeople in the chamber of commerce rooms in the evening.

Mr. Sully is trying to help the commercial world to a plane of better business and is endeavoring to point out the pitfalls of the retail realm so none will step into them. His points are illustrated with charts and diagrams. He works out the problems on large pads of paper and makes every point clear.

The speaker sends advance word that his address is not a "fairy tale." It is a straight-from-the-shoulder business talk which jolts the merchant out of a comfortable rut and makes him think, he says.

Every business man who is interested in this enthusiastic speaker and his message may hear him at the evening meeting. No admission is charged.

MONROE HALF DOLLAR SELLS FOR WHOLE DOLLAR

If I don't ask you now, Rollo will do the asking after my story is printed: "When is a half dollar not a half dollar? And if you have seen the new Monroe Doctrine Centennial piece you will be able to answer as quickly as a volvox actor: "When it costs a dollar."

All that as a preliminary to the fact that the Citizens National bank received several of the half dollar pieces from the centennial committee and they are being sold for a dollar. The pieces are especially minted to commemorate the centennial of the Monroe doctrine, which was promulgated in 1823. The face value of the coin goes to the mint and the other half dollar to the centennial celebration. The coin circulation value is money is only that of its face, but since there are so few being placed on the market, the collectors' value of the coins will increase within a few years.

The coin has on the one side a portrait of presidents Monroe and Adams with the words Monroe Doctrine Centennial on it. On the reverse side is what appears to be the continents of North and South America, but these are the graceful figures of two women whose draperies make the outline of the continents. The coins also bear the name of the place of the centennial, Los Angeles, and the dates, 1823 and 1923.

PLANT MANY TROUT IN LANGLADE-CO LAKES

Fishing in Sawyer and White lakes, near Antigo, should be good in a few years. The Langlade County Gun and Game club recently planted a large number of lake, speckled and rainbow trout in the lakes. Twenty-four cans of lake trout were planted. It was the first time that lake trout were deposited in Langlade-co waters. Recent planting also included 157 cans of speckled trout, 24 cans of rainbow trout and 15 cans of German brown trout.

LITTLE ILLEGAL NETTING ON LAKE

The days of illegal net fishing on the eastern shores of Lake Winnebago when this territory had the reputation of being "wild country" is still recalled by old fishermen. In those days the illegal net fishing was well organized. The poachers knew every craft on the lake and at the approach of a game warden were warned far in advance. Although netting is still carried on, it is on a smaller scale and under cover of darkness. But it is not so many years ago that city markets were well supplied with fish that were taken in nets openly set in the shadow of Clifton's hills. One old river pilot relates that for safety's sake he made it a practice to steer clear of the line of floats marking the locations of nets, for on one occasion he spied armed men on guard behind trees and when he ventured closer a 30-30 bullet crashed through the prow of his boat.

HIRAM, HENRY AND THE PRESIDENCY

Hiram Johnson in his address at the Waldorf-Astoria declared that: "Simple problems of our simple American environment are too stiff for us, but we are told and in many cases we actually believe that the infinitely stiffer and deeper problems of Europe need only an application to them of American wisdom." Because we are unable to achieve perfection in our own government Senator Johnson would have us abandon any idea of projecting ourselves into world affairs.

If this reasoning is worth anything it ought to apply to persons as well as a people. The gentleman who introduced Johnson to his New York audience was Mayor Hylan who has lately come out loudly for isolation, for no reason connected with his present employment. The senator says he is proud to claim Hylan's friendship. Hylan shows marked symptoms of wanting to be governor of New York. Yet there is substantial opinion to the effect that he is quite incapable of discharging his present duties efficiently and capably.

There never has been a time when Hiram Johnson himself did not have a presidential bug. There is one in his bonnet today. Yet the "progressivism" of which he rants in New York is discounted by his ardent support of the iniquitous Fordney Tariff and his failure to go on record in the gravest moral issue that ever faced him. Senator Johnson is not a great senator, yet he would assume an infinitely larger public task.

There was a time when Republican strategists entertained the name of Henry Cabot Lodge, isolationist, for an hour or so every four years, and Mr. Lodge hasn't performed a single useful constructive labor in a generation. There is not an isolationist who would not be president if wishes were votes, and there is not one of the bunch who is performing his present duties with any conspicuous signs of greatness.

Yet Senator Johnson believes we should not think of helping restore Europe, but should cut ourselves off from half the earth because we have not succeeded in arriving at utter perfection in governing ourselves.

Let the wheat farmer who has lost his foreign market consider that.

GETTING AFTER SWINDLERS

The United States is getting after "swindlers who used the mails to defraud innocent stock investors." An excellent campaign this, and periodically necessary in a country where people seem specially constructed for the wiles of the clever letter-writer and swamp real estate boomer. But is the government, laudably sleuthing the mote in the swindler's eye as careful about the beam in its own?

Of course the days have passed when the United States was a swindler in its own name, conveniently "losing" land treaties signed with illiterate Indians who later engaged in pathetic and vain pilgrimages to Washington to seek their rights; or when it arranged with them for holdings in a reservation "promised land" which later proved to be too small for the grant even of squatter homesteads and was divided up into tiny plots which forced Poor Lo to become dependent for life.

But there still appears to be a field in which the government can stand as a per-ty and accomplice to private land deals of the shadiest nature. With the greatest confidence a group of promoters is seeking government assistance in the drainage of 15,000 acres in the wonderful Minnesota-Illinois headwater fishing district on the upper Mississippi, spawning place for billions of fish planted in all the states of the middle west. The conservation peril of this project is of course of vast importance; but added to this is the declaration of leading plant physiologists, including Dr. A. L. Bakke of the Iowa State College of Agriculture, that the swamp soil included in the plan is absolutely incapable of successful farming once it is drained. There is too much water and yet too little moisture; too little oxygen and too much acid in the soil. Drainage and promotion will mean thousands of small farm failure tragedies like those in the Michigan sand land exploitation. A war department permit has already been issued for drainage, and the projectors are going to attempt a raid on the federal treasury next year for fourteen million dollars to help them. The matter is now being carried into the courts by sportsmen, to gain time. Evidently the federal government could profitably include such "pork" proposals as this, often devoted in the end to the cruel exploitation of ignorant people, in the scope of its "swindle" investigations.

HUMAN NATURE AND THE SCREEN

A trade commissioner of the department of commerce is always likely to get a lot of dope that differs from that supplied by the press agent. For example, one of these able observers in China notes coldly that the Chinese hold foreign motion pictures in slight regard. Not even the magnitude of the star nor the superlative technique of the environment can make the foreign film much of a success, he reports.

Strangely enough this fits in with the theories of the experts who analyze motion picture audiences in this country. The fundamental theory is that the audience sees itself in the film story. The hero is what a man might have been; the heroine is any girl's dream. This is an indestructible psychology found in the small boy or girl as much as in the adult. A child will spend much time when not overtly watched, in antics and grimaces supposed to pattern a momentary idol. The ideas of adults are different only through maturity and enlargement of knowledge.

The Chinese, then, wish to see Chinese on the screen in plays of Chinese structure and environment. They are willing to watch a film based on elemental emotions in any setting, but the film that packs them in is the one that reflects the capacity each beholder feels he or she possesses—if only circumstances were different.

It is a very old symptom of human nature, this. And it is impressive to find so little difference between Occident and Orient, under the skin.

NEW WAY TO STOP SPEEDING

The Riksdag, which is the Swedish parliament, had determined once and for all to put an end to automobile speeding. There is to be no nonsense about it, and, by a clever scheme, offenders are to be made self-convicting.

Thus it is now the law of Sweden that every owner of a motor car shall install recording speedometers not only showing the number of miles but the rate of speed for each mile. The evidence of the instrument will be considered superior to the opinion of the driver and equivalent to the oath of at least three witnesses.

This law goes to the root of the trouble, which is the varying estimate of arresting officer and motorist as to whether the latter really was doing 30 or only five. There is always room for argument on such a topic, although the records show the orators usually at a loss for effective logic even if well-stocked with words.

The law is a great one and as the Riksdag itself admits has only one defect. No one yet has invented the recording instrument.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

LET'S TALK ABOUT NEURITIS

Sometimes I feel uncertain who is the more to be pitied—the chap who is absolutely, abysmally unaware of all that pertains to health and hygiene or the chap who has garnered a smattering of information concerning the ways of health and is cock sure and complacent in his half knowledge or false knowledge. Josh Billings said: "Trouble with a lot of plain people is they know so many things—and here he stumped and stumped vacantly about—'so many things which ain't so.'"

By rights and traditions I really should begin this talk about neuritis by asserting flatly that there is no such disease, but neuritis isn't old enough in the popular mind as yet, and besides the facts are stubborn and I dare not ring in my favorite opening challenge, for it would be just the kind of irony I deserve for some kind of neuritis to happen to me myself. So we'll let it go at that.

The sad truth is that there are more varieties of neuritis than there are of rheumatism—forgetting for the moment, if you please, that there is no such condition as rheumatism. In fact each individual case of neuritis of genuine neuritis I mean—not just the fashionable application of the term to every real or imaginary ache or pain—each individual case of the real neuritis is enough unlike each other case to warrant classifying it as a separate variety.

Well, now, I am sure the alert reader will begin to suspect whether we are drifting. My dear children, the term neuritis is derived from two words or roots which are Greek, to me at any rate, and mean respectively nerve and inflammation. So neuritis is inflammation of a nerve.

You already know that neuralgia means nerve ache or nerve pain. So now you know about as much as I know about neuritis, but I'd like to tell you a few columns of stuff about it just the same for folks certainly do like to be told what they already know—whether it is so or not.

It is amusing and diverting even to think of the many kinds of neuritis, such as alcoholic, sciatic, optic, multiple, toxic, traumatic, diphtheritic, Morton's toe, wristdrop, facial paralysis, and painless neuritis. Though painless neuritis, come to think of it, would not be amusing—or diverting to folks who already know a lot about neuritis—which ain't so. Just a few words about the varieties, in succeeding columns of this series of neuritis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Damned Spots
There are spots, damned spots, before my eyes. They go up when I raise my eyes and when the eyes rest on one object they float down across the line of vision. I am only 62 and otherwise husky. Is there anything that will take these spots away?—W. N.

Answer—A little too much fuel and not enough oxygen on the hoof will make the world look spotty. Sometimes muscae volitantes call 'em.

Another Baby Runs the Gauntlet
(1) What should a baby less than a month old be given for constipation, if prunes juice good? (2) Should babies wear pants in summer time? (3) Should I make lime water of slaked or unslaked lime? How long will it keep?—Mrs. H. V. D.

Answer—(1) The diet should control the bowel action. Perhaps the baby receives improper food. (2) Not in hot weather; if a part wool undershirt is kept on the baby should wear nothing else in hot weather. (3) Use a piece of unslaked lime the size of a walnut in two quarts of boiled water in a crock or earthen jar. Stir thoroughly and allow it to settle. Then pour off the clear liquid which is lime water. More boiled water may be added until the time is all used for making more lime water. It will keep a month. Every young mother should know all these things as well as she knows long division, but our schools teach about everything imaginable except human life.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Wednesday, August 3, 1898

William Kaifer returned from a two weeks' visit at Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Bender returned to their home at Seymour.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hammel left for a two weeks' visit with friends at Medford.

The board of directors of the public library decided to invest $60 in new books.

Oscar Thilmany was displaying a 25-foot German flag at half mast at his home at Kaukauna because of the death of Prince Bismarck.

Mrs. E. Heldemann and Mrs. Kuip were called to Neenah by the death of Mrs. Jane Jewell, formerly of Appleton.

With the aid of the new steam roller the streets of the city were being greatly improved.

The report of the library of the public library for July showed that 2,495 books were drawn during the month.

Matt Schmidt rented the store formerly occupied by Ritchie & Hoeffel and was to take possession the following Saturday. It was his intention to open up with a full line of furnishing goods.

W. F. Montgomery presented the public library with a copy of "The Classic and the Beautiful From the Literature of Three Hundred Years," by Henry Coppes.

Ryan & Jacobson were selling their best coal at $5.75 per ton.

The mills at Oshkosh were to resume work but failed to do so as only about half of their employees applied for their old jobs.

TEN YEARS AGO

Wednesday, July 30, 1913

William Wenzel was at Green Bay on business.

Louis Wandell of Kaukauna called on Appleton friends while on his way to Marshfield to attend the wedding of his son.

Miss Katherine Barker of Merrill, formerly of Appleton, was spending her vacation with friends here.

W. S. Taylor, manager of the Pulpwood company, was taking his first vacation in several years, most of which he was spending in the northern part of the state.

Frank meeting of New London was visiting his brother, A. G. Meathun, county superintendent of schools.

T. W. Orison and family left for Escanaba in their automobile.

Dr. M. L. Spencer of Lawrence college, who was spending his vacation in Milwaukee, leased the new residence which C. H. Vinal was building at the lower end of Alton and was to occupy it in September.

W. F. Wolf, county clerk, Douglas Hodgins, S. R. Stulp, A. G. Bruns and John Tracy, who constituted the sanatorium county board committee, were at Wailes, Wis. in the interest of affairs connected with the building of that new institution between Little Chute and Kaukauna.

DETOUR

Saw a tourist the other day using a telescope on Oneida-st and Second-ave. Several persons stopped to rub her and finally asked the tourist what he was looking at.

"Looking at nothing," he replied. "I am looking for something."

"What are you looking for?"

"For a street sign to find out where I'm at."

He was told where they were "en- graved" in the cement sidewalks and then he focused the telescope on the walk until he finally found the name, and with the remark, "Heck of a town that can't afford street signs" he stepped on the gas and passed on.

It's a renewal of the island's campaign for self-government.

WHAT IS GOING ON

IN THE WORLD

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

The German mark, once worth nearly a quarter in American money fell so low last week that $1 would buy about a million.

That is, a man worth $500,000 in German money when the war started has $2 now. On what this does to bank accounts, trade and wages, it's needless to dwell. Of course, wages have risen considerably. Still, for a skilled worker, $12 counts as a fair month's pay. Besides, business is so disorganized that unemployment's rife.

The point is that before the war, German money seemed as sound as American money does now. Maybe it's ridiculous to suggest that what's happened in Germany could happen in the United States, but that's what the Germans thought, too.

To reduce it to terms of practical politics, suppose somebody who favors a radical change in America's monetary system should get into power, put his plan into effect, and it didn't work out as expected? Presidential possibilities are mentioned, from time to time, who have such schemes.

RUSSO-CHINESE PACT?

The East, Far and Near, bulked large in last week's news.

Dr. Sun Yat Sen, Chinese revolutionary leader, took a position which may mark an epoch when he declared for a union of forces between his country and Russia.

Germany would be friendly, he predicted, at the same expressing the conviction that Turkey, Persia and Afghanistan actually would join Japan, the doctor admitted, has disappointed the Chinese, but he added that the latter haven't abandoned hope of the Japanese yet.

He concluded by forecasting another great war soon; therefore urged that the countries, which outside pressure has forced together, come to terms among themselves at once.

TURKEY SCORES VICTORY

Turkey, in conference with the great powers at Lausanne, has forced England, France, Italy, Japan, Greece and Roumania to most of her conditions. Ex-Premier Lloyd George says it's the most humiliating treaty England ever signed. Jugo-Slavia refused but probably will have to sign later. America and Turkey are making a separate peace.

When the Turks joined the Germans in the war, the allies swore they'd drive the sultan out of Europe now.

Turkey's stronger than she's been in centuries. She escapes the war penalties the allies tried to impose. She gets Constantinople back, and eastern Thrace. Foreign troops must leave her soil. She evicts Greek civilians. She makes no promises concerning the Armenians. She ends extra-territoriality within her frontiers. She opens the Bosphorus and Dardanelles to such shipping as she chooses to let pass. She joins the League of Nations on equal terms with everybody else.

Declaring General Leonard Wood temperamental unfitted to govern "in a democratic manner," the legislature at Manila has demanded his recall as governor, general of the Philippines.

It's a renewal of the island's campaign for self-government.

ENDING 12-HOUR DAY

WETS AND DRIES

When the revenue cutter Seminole, scouting for rum runners off New York, approached uncomfortably close to the British schooner Thorn-dyke, outside America's 3-mile limit, the Thornydyke's captain threatened to open fire.

The Seminole commander's superiors ordered him later, if any suspected ship should do this, to return the shots.

A fight on the high seas, where the liquor sleuths' jurisdiction doesn't run, between a United States government vessel and one under a foreign flag would be very serious indeed.

The Seminole's commander reported the liquor fleet stretching the length of a 35-mile line, just beyond the 3-mile limit, outside New York, with many countries represented.

W. H. Anderson, indicted New York superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, having said he used a large part of the money he won't otherwise account for, to bribe newspaper men, the New York press is bringing strong pressure for a special legislative session to investigate the League's methods thoroughly.

ENDING 12-HOUR DAY

The United States Steel Corporation is fixing to abandon the 12-hour day for its workers.

E. H. Gary, the corporation's chairman, recently said this couldn't be done at present, but public opinion was too much for him.

The Question Box

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Is it necessary to place a period after the abbreviation "per cent"? J. L. P.

A. The Government Style Book approves of omitting the period after per cent, the abbreviation for per centum.

Q. On a clear night how many stars can a person see? L. L.

A. There are only about 6000 stars in the whole sky which are visible to the unaided eye.

Q. Where were the first highways in the world? F. C. S.

A. The first highways of which anything is known were the trade routes of Asia Minor which connected the East with the West about 2000 B. C.

Q. Does a man-eating shark swallow the victim whole? How many rows of teeth has such an animal? A. G. K.

A. Whether a man-eating shark swallows a person whole or tears him in parts is a point of controversy. However, the general supposition is that it tears off parts of the body. This species of shark has six rows of teeth when it is fully grown.

Q. How much were the slaves worth when the Civil War began? A. T.

A. The Census Bureau estimates the value of slaves in Southern States, 1860, at $1,500,000,000.

Q. What King of Ireland was a musician? D. M.

A. King Brian Boru who reigned in the 10th century was a harpist. His harp of 28 strings may be seen in the Dublin Museum.

Q. What per cent of the Indians are American citizens? G. H.

A. The Indian Bureau of the Indians says that about two-thirds of the Indians of all ages are citizens.

Q. How is acorn bread made? A. L.

A. Nowadays leached corn meal is usually mixed with corn meal whole wheat or white flour, in the proportion of one part acorn meal to four parts of the other. Ordinary recipes are then used. Indians made acorn bread by making a thick mush from the meal. This was shaped into a loaf and turned into a cold, running stream. The water made the mush shrink and harden. Placed on a rock to drain, it became harder and dry and was ready to eat.

Q. Where is the Salt Range? A. G. E.

A. This mountain range is in the Punjab, India, and is a rugged chain of barren peaks from 2000 to 5000 feet high, noted for immense deposits of pure rock salt.

Q. How did the habit rise of lifting the hat in salutation? H. L.

A. Denudation is a movement symbolic of resignation of one's goods to the king, and this is probably the origin of the custom of lifting the hat or removing a glove.

Q. Did the Indian tribes scalp their victims? N. A.

A. This practice was originally restricted in North America to the Indians inhabiting the eastern parts of the country. It gradually spread over the plains.

Q. What is meant by "engineers" when they speak of a "short pipe" or a "long pipe"? A. M. P.

A. Hydraulic engineers are accustomed to classify pipes as "short" and "long." A short pipe is one whose length is less than 300 times its diameter; a long pipe is one whose length is more than 300 times its diameter.

Q. Will a round ball of wood float half out of the water? W. T. C.

Club Rooms To Be Moved On Monday

Through a change in plans, Appleton Womans Clubroom will be moved from its present quarters in Hotel Appleton until Monday of next week. Headquarters for the girl scouts and camp fire girls who are going to Onaway Island to camp on Saturday will be at the clubroom and all telephone messages may be put through to the clubroom rather than to Miss Eleanor Hall's home as was announced earlier.

Because the house on the new womans club property cannot be vacated for a few days, it was thought best to postpone the moving even into the other building until the beginning of next week. All the equipment of the club is packed at its present quarters but will be left there for a few days. The office is being kept open at the usual hours.

Two trucks have been secured to take some of the girls and all of the baggage for the two weeks trip to camp on Saturday. The majority of the councillors will leave at 10:30 Thursday morning for camp in order to have everything in order for the girls when they arrive on Saturday.

While the girls are at Waupaca, Mrs. H. E. Griffin will have camp information headquarters at her home, 737 North St. She will be able to give out what information is sent her daily between 8 and 9 in the morning and 6 and 7 in the evening. The address of the girls will be Onaway Island, Chain of Lakes, Waupaca, Wis.

Games and scrap book material has come to the club for use in camp, but many more games can be used by the children. Any one who has children's games which would be suitable for the girls in camp, especially on rainy days, is urged to leave them at the clubroom before Saturday.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Lawrence C. Learned, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Learned, 735 North Division-st., and Miss Winifred A. Taft of Whitewater, took place at the bride's home at Whitewater at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. A reception for relatives followed the ceremony. The couple will spend several days at the Dells of Wisconsin and then will come to Appleton to reside for the remainder of the summer. They will go to Pekin, Ill. in the fall, where the bridegroom is an instructor in one of the public schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Learned and children are at Whitewater attending the wedding.

The marriage of Miss Marie Johnson to George Vanderheyden, both of Kimberly, took place at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed in Holy Name church at Kimberly by the Rev. F. X. Van Nistelrooy. Miss Anna Vanderheyden and Theodore Peters were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Vanderheyden will make their home in Appleton.

Miss Katherine Frahm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frahm of Greenville, and John Sturm of West Nienasha, were married at 8:30 Wednesday morning at St. Joseph church. The Rev. GOOD WAGES, NO I. W. W. OFFERED HARVEST HANDS

A shortage of laborers for the harvest fields in northwest Dakota has led the federal-state employment bureau at Minot, N. D., to advertise for men. "Men wanted" handbills have been received at the police station, postoffice and city hall. Three months of work in harvest fields in that state with good wages and board is offered. As an incentive the state has secured a special $5 railroad fare on all roads from Duluth, Superior, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Sioux City to any point in northwest Dakota. The handbill also states: "North Dakota guarantees protection against I. W. W."

OVER 1,200,000 CARS LICENSED IN NEW YORK

Automobile license numbers of six figures are common after Feb. 1, but it is not every day that one sees cars with license numbers going over the million mark. A New York vehicle passed through Appleton Wednesday morning a license plate with a number that was higher than 1,200,000. Wisconsin has thus far issued 450,000 licenses, or about one-third of that of the Empire state.

Drouth Dims Stately Beauty Of Hollyhocks

The long drouth this summer disappointed many persons who tried to keep profuse gardens, but one who feels it more than many others, perhaps is Fadio Freije, 786 Appleton-st. Mr. Freije grows beautiful hollyhocks unlike any other in Appleton, but this year he has had difficulty in bringing out an abundance of blossoms.

Even with the absence of the customary blossoms by the hundred the garden at the corner of Appleton and Pacific-sts draws many admirers. It has long rows of hollyhocks, grouped by colors that are of rare richness. Most of the stalks developed flowers, but the number is far from the profusion in seasons when rain came regularly.

The blossoms are not of the usual variety with a single circle of petals, but look more like roses. Mr. Freije imported the seed from Damascus and although he had difficulty in acclimating the plants he now has them growing successfully.

Another odd plant that may be found in his garden is the Hindu squash. It develops large white blossoms and the squashes, when developed, are of surprising length.

APPLETON MEN PLAN TO ATTEND OSHKOSH MEETING

Charles Sparling and Lyman E. Williams of Appleton will attend the convention of the Wisconsin Association of Clearers and Dyers in Oshkosh Aug. 6 and 7. It is expected that 200 persons will be present. Meetings will be held at the Althean hotel.

The chief purpose of the convention is to instruct in better cleaning and dyeing and to help the small concern to attain the same equipment and business help as the big company enjoys. Uniform prices also will be discussed.

Ivan N. Tull of St. Louis, general manager of the national association will be among the speakers. Special entertainment will be arranged for the delegates.

APPLETONIANS DODGE NET SPREAD BY SPEED COPS

Was it speed mania of the most rampant kind, or was it an organized campaign against speeding that resulted in 31 arrests Sunday on the county highways of Winnebago-co?

That is what Appleton tourists are asking themselves. Yet these same Appleton drivers also think it a miracle that not an Appletonian was caught in the speeders net laid by the two motorcycle officers of Winnebago-co. The list of speeders included Mrs. M. H. Gleason of Kaukauna, but most of the arrested persons were tourists.

Rheumatic Neuritis

Says His Prescription Completely Banishes All Rheumatic Pain and Twinges—Is Guaranteed.

Deep Seated Eric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinges of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. Voigt Drug Store can supply you.

12-YEAR-OLD BOY ADMITS ROBBING NEENAH STORE

Syrian Youngster Arrested For Stealing $480 From Irving Zuelke

Neenah police late on Tuesday arrested Matti Jemjohn, 12, son of a Syrian drug dealer at Neenah, as the burglar who entered the Irving Zuelke music store on West Wisconsin-ave, stealing about $480 in cash and checks, and three month organs. The youth admitted the burglary and was bound over for hearing in juvenile court in Oshkosh.

Matti told police that he was playing in the alley in the rear of the store between 2 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning when he noticed the rear window open. He went in, took about $28 out of the open cash register, went to the vault, found that open. He also took three month organs, one of which he dropped as he crawled out of the window.

The next day the lad purchased a gasoline motor to attach to his bicycle, paying $70 for it, but no attention was paid to the transaction because the boy always had plenty of money.

FOND DU LAC BAGS 63 ARTERY LAW VIOLATORS

William Bucholz of Appleton is included in the list of 63 persons who are scheduled to appear in municipal court at Fond du Lac this week for violation of that city's arterial highway ordinance.

The unusual number of warrant issued Friday is the result of a concerted drive against motorists who fail to stop before crossing arterial highways. The drive was made by plain clothes men under the direction of the Fond du Lac police department.

Tuesday, however, he showed one of the mouth organs to a playmate, who told his father and he in turn notified the police. Matti's arrest followed.

An effort to connect the boy with other recent burglaries in Neenah have been unsuccessful. The youngster says he doesn't know anything about the other thefts.

TIPOVER WRECK. BESSETTE AUTO

Driver Comes To Grief When He Takes Ditch To Avoid Hitting Culvert

Special to Post-Crescent.
Maple Creek—An automobile driven by Lester Bessette and occupied also by his brother, Delores Bessette, was damaged badly when it tipped over on county highway D Sunday morning at a point between the Lutheran church and the Henry Steneger driveway. The accident followed Bessette's attempt to avoid hitting a culvert when he found he did not have room to pass a car driven by Louis Lorge. Bessette drove into the ditch and in trying to regain the highway the car tipped over. The top was wrecked, the front axle broken, a wheel torn off and other damage done. Delores Bessette was thrown out but was unhurt and Lester also escaped with only a few scratches and bruises.

The new residence of John Flanagan will be ready for occupancy the first of the month.
Martin Ruckdashel had a pitchfork penetrate his arm just above the elbow on Tuesday while assisting his father. The injury was a painful one but may not prove serious.

On Tuesday morning at St. Mary church at Bear Creek the marriage of Miss Lillian Brisco of Wittenberg to William Surridge of this place was solemnized. The Rev. C. Rupp officiated the services. The young couple will reside at the home of the bride, groom's father, Joseph Surridge, whose farm he has been managing the past two years.

OUTLINE PROGRAM FOR KAUKAUNA'S HOMECOMING WEEK

Rehearsals For Historical Pageant, With 275 Actors, To Start In Week

Special to Post-Crescent.
Kaukauna—Howard Foreman Smith has arrived to take charge of rehearsals for Kaukauna's first annual pageant to be presented during homecoming week, Aug. 27 to Sept. 1. Rehearsals will begin within a week. The first call for 275 men to take part has been sent out. It is expected the men will be secured through efforts of every organization in the city which has been asked to recommend 25 of its members to take part.

The pageant is not a producing company's attempt to create amusements. It will be a gigantic drama, a history of this section of the Fox river valley. The story was written by Thomas W. Stevens of Pittsburg, Pa., a nationally known pageant writer who was in Kaukauna while writing the story. The part of the prophet, which is an important one will be taken by Donald Robertson, artistic director of the Chicago Civic theatre association.

Robertson has staged 51 plays and has acted the leading role in 35 of them. He has staged and appeared in 10 pageants written by Mr. Stevens.

It has been definitely settled now that the pageant will be presented in an arena at the base of Beauview hill near the ball park, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. A baseball game between Appleton and Kaukauna on Tuesday afternoon will furnish thrills but for Wednesday and Thursday nothing is planned thus far except the pageant in the evening.

Monday will be American legion day. The local post is making arrangements to have automobiles meet all trains entering the city and to conduct the visitors to any place in the city they desire. A "kids" picnic for all who have not yet stepped into long trousers will be held on municipal playgrounds. Everything will be free for the kids. Games and contests will furnish amusement.

In the evening dinner will be served for the mayor and council in the new legion hall. At 7 o'clock the building will be dedicated and will be presented to the post by Mayor C. E. Raught. Lester J. Brenzel will accept the gift. At 7:30 a gathering will be held on municipal playgrounds where a talk is scheduled by State Commander F. R. Duffy of Fond du Lac. Friday there will be a community picnic at the tourist camp with a community dance in the evening at the auditorium. Saturday will be carnival day with a reception at the municipal administration building and a display of fireworks in the evening.

FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

Kaukauna—Mrs. Lester J. Brenzel entertained a group of friends at the home of Mrs. Gerard Brenzel Monday evening in honor of Miss Valerie Gerend who will be married in near future to Tim Ryan of this city. The evening was spent in playing progressive hearts. Prizes were won by Mrs. Edward Rennie and Miss Florence VanAble.

BEGIN BEAUTIFYING GROUNDS AT H. S.

Kaukauna—First steps toward beautifying the property about the new high school were taken Monday when preparations were made to move the former Kaukauna "Sun" office, recently occupied by the Kaukauna Marble and Granite Works, from the block. The road will be barricaded until the building has been moved to its future position on the island. Anton Mancosky is its new owner.

Several hundred loads of ground have already been hauled about the high school but it will require much more. Finish touches to the building are being made and it will be in readiness for the inspection during pageant week.

CHURCH RECEIVES $830 FROM PICNIC

Large Attendance At Oneida Outing Sunday Swells Building Fund

Special to Post-Crescent

Oneida—The picnic given by the Immaculate Conception parish at Oneida Sunday was a success. Crowds from neighboring towns and villages thronged the picnic grounds. About 300 automobiles were parked near the grounds and in the new auto park. Owners were more than pleased to find they could check their cars and feel they were safe.

Articles were auctioned off and the witty expressions of the auctioneers, Victor Van Gemert, John Williams and Nick Van den Heuvel of DePere, and Frank Appleton of Freedom, kept the crowd entertained.

The chicken dinner was the greatest success with 78 chickens consumed. Merry-go-rounds, airplanes, etc., furnished amusement for the children and the Oneida band furnished the music.

The church was able to realize about $830 toward the building fund for the new church and school.

The Light Running GEHL

Our No. 17 Gehl is Admirably Suited to Any Two-Plow Tractor

Produces More and Better Silage at Less Expense

That's exactly what you want in the cutter you buy, and that's exactly what you get in a Light Running GEHL Ensilage Cutter.

Note These Five Big, Special Features:

First—They produce quality work because the clean shear cut makes the best ensilage obtainable.

Second—They are absolutely self-feeding, no man is required at the feed table. This saves one man's wages every day.

Third—They are of high class construction throughout, built with a heavy steel frame.

Fourth—They are absolutely safe—cannot blow up.

Fifth—They are light running. In the University test our No. 17 used only 63% as much power as any of the other cutters.

Call for Catalog and let us explain every point about this famous cutter. No obligation to buy—glad to see you anyway.

The Gehl Re-cutting Attachment quickly converts any Gehl Ensilage Cutter into the world's best recutter. It cuts meal—doesn't shred, crush or grind to flour.

HANTSCHER GETS INFORMATION ON NEW FISHING LAWS

Legislature Made Important Changes In Wisconsin Angling Regulations

A revised list of the open seasons on fish of all varieties, together with the bag limit of each, has been made since the passage of new fish and game laws by the legislature, and has been forwarded to John E. Hantscher for publication.

Attention is called to the rule that residents may ship to points in the state only. Nonresidents may make one shipment within or out of the state. Residents are limited to one shipment of not more than 20 pounds once in seven days. Nonresidents may make one 20-pound shipment in a season. They may carry 20 pounds without the coupons attached.

A 20-pound shipment is not to contain more than the daily bag limit of any one variety of fish. Residents may, however, carry 50 pounds of fish, but these are not to contain more than the daily bag limit of any variety. Two fish, irrespective of weight, may be shipped. Trout must be carried in any case, and not shipped. No size limit is fixed for any of the fish to be caught. Only a bag limit is fixed. The revised list is as follows:

Name of Fish	Open Season	Bag Limit
Trout.....	May 1 to Aug. 31	25
Black bass.....	June 15 to Mar. 1	10
Black bass in Green Lake.....	Opens July 1	10
Muskellonge.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	1
Pike.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	10
Pickereel.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	15
White bass.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	50
Rock bass.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	30
Cat fish.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	10
Bullheads.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	30 lb
Sturgeon.....	No open season
All other fish.....	June 1 to Mar. 1	1

No size or bag limit is fixed for the fish last referred to except in the lakes of Winnebago and Wisconsin, where the daily limit is 30 sunfish, roach, strawberry bass, calico bass, blue gills, or a daily mixed bag of 30.

Europeans Would Rather Starve Than Be Criticized

Major James B. Pond of New York, tour manager, who is known here as the brother of the late O. W. Pond, father of Mrs. G. E. Buchanan, declares that European celebrities, ordinarily eager to replenish their coffers by lucrative lecture tours in the United States, now refuse to come here.

Through Major Pond, Appleton 25 years ago was able to book many national and international men on its entertainment course, conducted by the Young Men's Sunday Evening club of the Congregational church.

One particularly was Ian Maclaren (John Watson, D. D.) of Edinburgh, Scotland, who delivered a lecture at the Congregational church at the time of his book, "Beside the Donnie Friar Dush," was one of the biggest sellers of the country.

Maclaren remained over Sunday here and preached at the church in the morning, and Major Pond, who accompanied him, lectured on his own work in the evening. Pond has not been here in recent years.

The reason why some European celebrities are shy of America, Pond says, is because of criticism following previous visits. He said he had tried unsuccessfully to arrange tours for Shaw, Wells, Kipling, Walter de la Mare, Sabatini, Freud and Steinbach, Austrian scientists. Pond asserted, refused his offers though poverty seriously handicapped their researches. They complained that Americans were more interested in sensationalism than in the search for scientific truths. Dr. Steinbach of Vienna, noted for his rejuvenation operations, Pond declared, has been forced to cut his research staff from 10 to 10 and has no money with which to buy monkeys for experimentation. The scientist asserted his ideas had been exaggerated in America.

Dr. Sigismund Freud, exponent of psychoanalysis, also complained that American pupils, without understanding his principles, had presumed to teach them in their own country.

Mr. Pond told of a young doctor in Vienna who had accomplished remarkable results in the transference and implanting of the human eye and who plans to come to the United States in the fall to carry on research work in the American hospital, Chicago.

NEW LAW FAILS TO TAKE BURDEN FROM TREASURER

Recent changes were made by the legislature in the issuance of county orders will increase the work of county clerks, but will not detract from the work required of county treasurers, according to Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer. The new laws will require clerks not only to sign orders for disbursement by treasurers of county funds, but also to countersign orders for expenditure of other funds not applying to clerk's offices.

REUTER PREACHES AT MISSION FEST

The Rev. F. C. Reuter, pastor of First English Lutheran church of Appleton, will speak in the English service of the annual mission festival of St. John Evangelical church of Zittau of which the Rev. E. Schimpfky is pastor. This service will open at 2 o'clock.

A German service will also be conducted at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, at which the Rev. E. Schulz of Baldwin's Mill will be the speaker. The festival will be in the grove of C. Luedtke, situated just opposite the church, three miles northwest of the town of Winchester on highway 28. Collections for missions will be raised in both services.

Three More Bargain Week Days

SEASONABLE MERCHANDISE ATTRACTIONS AT GEENEN'S

Summer goods in all departments of the Geenen store were what attracted the people on Saturday and during the early part of the week, according to Miss Dinah Geenen. The summer dresses proved to be especially attractive at the low prices to which they had been reduced. The sale was not a rush one, but a steady interest in bargains was manifested.

Few people were putting in a supply of things for the fall and winter at the sale, Miss Geenen said. August is the big month for selling of school clothes and early fall needs and as soon as the sale is over, women will begin to make their plans for the coming season. With from six weeks to two months of warm weather before them, the purchasers are thinking of the comfort of cool and trim clothes for the end of the season.

AUTO ACCESSORIES ON SALE HERE

Automobile accessories are being sold at Fox River Valley Chevrolet Co. at special prices during bargain week. Repair kits which are so necessary to the owners of cars who do some of their own repairing are at reduced prices.

As people are taking long trips they find it impossible to carry much baggage unless it can be fastened to the running board of a car. For this purpose suit case carriers are indispensable. They are being sold at special values this week. While car tires in certain sizes are also at sale price with a reduction of several dollars.

TIRES AND USED CARS AT LOW PRICES

At Herman Motor Car Co. thirty per cent is being thrown off the factory price of tires and is considered by the proprietors as one of their biggest bargain week offers. The other is a discount on used car sales which make possible for persons buying used cars to get them at a lower price than ever. The company has a large number of such cars from which to draw.

SUITS 25% OFF AT CAMERON-SCHULZ

Bathing suits with one-third off is a feature at Cameron and Schultz clothing store for there is still a number of weeks in which to use them. Straw hats are being sold for one-half price and silk shirts also at big reduction. Twenty-five per cent is being taken off an assortment of three piece suits which are of late cut and good material. Palm beach suits have been selling at only two thirds the original price. Other smaller articles are being offered.

A. R. MILLER GIVES DISCOUNT ON WALL PAPER

In order to cooperate with the bargain week plan, A. R. Miller whose paperhanging and paint shop is at 601 Appleton street placed his special discount on wall paper a few days earlier than usual. During the month of August and September 15, Mr. Miller gives a ten per cent discount on paper to close out his stock at the end of the season. In order to go into the cooperative plan, he placed this discount on his papers on July 25.

TUBE FREE WITH TIRE PURCHASE

The big item of course at the West Side Tire Shop is tires. Tires in all sizes in the Hood and Case makes. During Bargain week the proprietor is giving an inner tube with every Hood casing and in addition is giving the customer whatever service he desires.

On dollar days one dollar will be taken off every ten dollar purchase.

PORCH FURNITURE POPULAR AT SAECKER-DIDERRICH CO.

Reed and fiber furniture which has been attractively priced is the big seller at the Saecker-Diderrich Furniture company during bargain week. John Diderrich of that company said that the cooperative sale had brought a large number of house keepers down town to purchase this furniture for the porch and sun parlor.

GREAT SAVINGS AT DOWNER PHARMACIES

The regular monthly sale of the Downer Pharmacies was put on a few days earlier for the sake of cooperating with the special bargain week in other stores. Although there has been considerable business there during the first few days of the sale, the management is looking forward to a record sale during the month of August. Many summer needs and standard products in the drug line have been priced very low for the August sale. Patrons of the monthly sales bring in the list of things which they wish to purchase at the remarkable saving each month.

GOLDIN'S STORE HAS SPECIAL SUIT BARGAINS

Early fall suits with from twenty to thirty per cent knocked off is the big offer at Goldin's store. Dress shirts with one-third and one half off have been selling quite rapidly and straw hats are at half price.

A number of good quality boys suits are at sale prices and separate trousers are a specialty. Underwear is another big item during bargain week.

LOW MEAT PRICES AT HOPFENSBERGER'S

Pork and beef in various cuts at reduced prices are the features at Hopfensberger meat market. Round and sirloin steaks are being sold for one fifth less a pound during this week. Pork chops and steaks have the same reduction. Special offers will probably be made for bargain days.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday Will Provide Whirlwind Finish for Appleton's Greatest Co-operative Sale.

WATCHES LOW PRICED AT SPECTOR'S

Watches reduced to what M. Spector feels is a ridiculously low price have been the big attractions at his jewelry store during bargain week. Other things in the jewelry line have been reduced greatly and are bringing the careful buyers to his store to take advantage of the low prices.

Mr. Spector will soon move his store to his new College-ave location. Because he wishes to reduce his stock as much as possible before moving, Mr. Spector has some very unusual bargains to offer in the staple line of jewelry and silverware.

VACATION LUGGAGE AT 10% DISCOUNT

As August is the month in which most persons plan to take their vacations and will want smart baggage, L. M. Mills Trunk and Bag Co. is offering almost everything in his store at a ten per cent discount. He has in stock all types of trunks, wardrobe and utility, in various sizes. A high grade assortment of traveling bags are shown. Boston bags and brief cases. There are also a number of combination cases for traveling men which enables them to carry their "line" and also personal belongings in the one case.

During dollar days, Mr. Mills will have a variety of articles at his store which will each sell for a dollar. Among these the more important will be some suit cases and bill folds.

Merchants Preparing Final Bargains for the Last Days of Economy Event.

LAST TWO DAYS WILL BE DOLLAR DAYS

Three more days to go and Appleton merchants will have concluded the city's most successful cooperative sale. Great preparations are being made to afford the public the very utmost in savings, to close Bargain Week in a fitting manner. All through this sales event stores have been reducing prices on seasonal merchandise on things that people are desirous of buying for present-day needs. Great crowds are expected to pack the stores on the closing days for people from the rural communities have been putting off their buying until the end of the week, wishing to take advantage of the fair weather for farm work.

LAST TWO DAYS WILL BE DOLLAR DAYS

The closing days of Bargain Week, Friday and Saturday will be Dollar Days and will furnish a fitting climax to a week of great sales offerings. The plans of most of the stores taking part, call for a further cut in prices of practically everything slated for sale during Bargain Week. Hundreds and hundreds of things will be marked down to a dollar and on articles of wearing apparel, household goods and large items immense reductions will be made to make Bargain Week, an event long to be remembered as seven days of remarkable value giving.

SAVINGS AFFORDED AT ROHLOFF GROCERY

Gold Medal flour at a special reduction is one of the best articles offered at Rohloff's grocery, this week. Many persons have availed themselves of the opportunity but there is still some flour left at the sale price. Another item is Green Bay coffee which is being sold three pounds for a dollar.

During Friday and Saturday when the dollar day bargains will be available, seven cans of pork and beans will be given for a dollar.

"The steamer is coming soon," he said. "Now I leave you and I hope that I have done good. Think how you feel to you I cannot tell. Your turn may come. I trust so I am not at all jealous. But be warned. This red man—he is no friend to you or me. You seek him again today. So be it. And if you find him, be careful of your skin. Not that a man can protect his skin against fate. We meet at supper."

He swung away, singing a canzonet, and quickly vanished. Brendon, overwhelmed by this extraordinary conversation, sat for an hour motionless and deep in thought. He considered now his own course of action and presently proceeded to the region in which Robert Redmayne had been most frequently reported.

Brendon climbed steadily upward and presently sat down to rest upon a little, level plateau where, in the mountain scrub, grew lilies of the valley and white rose.

Suddenly Mark became aware that he was watched and found himself face to face with the object of his search. Robert Redmayne stood separated from him by a distance of thirty years behind the boughs of a breast-high shrub. But it appeared that the watcher desired no closer contact. He turned and ran, heading upward for a wild tract of stone and scrub that spread beneath the last precipices of the mountain. Mark strove to run the other down as speedily as possible, that he might close, with strength still sufficient to win the inevitable battle that must follow, and effect a capture.

He was disappointed, however, for while still twenty yards behind and forced to make only a moderate progress over the rocky way he saw Robert Redmayne suddenly stop, turn and lift a revolver. As the red man fired, the other flung up his arms, plunged forward on his face, gave one convulsive tremor through all his limbs, and moved no more. The big man, panting from his exertions, approached only to see that his fallen victim showed no sign of life, the other, with his face amid the alpine flowers, remained where he had dropped, his arms outstretched, his hands clenched. The conqueror took careful note of the spots in which he stood and bringing a knife from his pocket blazed the stem of a young tree that rose not very far from his victim. Then he disappeared and peace reigned above the fallen.

Many hours passed and then, after night had fallen, the hollow, then sounded from close at hand strange noises and the intermittent thud of some metal weapon striking the earth. The din ascended from a rock which lifted its gray head above a thicket of juniper; and here, while the flat summit of the boulder began to shine whitely under the rising moon, a lantern flickered and showed two shadows busy above the excavation of an oblong hole. They mumbled together and dug in turn. Then one dark figure came out into the open, took his bearings, flung lantern light on the blazed tree trunk, and advanced to a brown, motionless hump lying hard by.

The dark, approaching figure saw the object of his search and came forward. His purpose was to bury the victim, whom he had lured hither before destroying, and then remove any trace that might linger upon the spot where the body lay. He bent down, put his hands to the jacket of the motionless man, and then, as he exerted his strength, a strange, hideous thing happened. The body under his touch dropped to pieces. Its head rolled away; its trunk became dismembered and he fell backward heaving an amorphous torso into the air. For exerting the needful pressure to move a heavy weight, he found none and stumbled to the ground, holding up a coat stuffed with grass.

The man was on his feet in an instant, fearing an ambush; but astonishment opened his mouth.

"Corpo di Bacco!" he cried, and the exclamation rang in a note of something like terror against the cliffs and upon the ear of his companion. Neither rascal delayed a moment. Their mingled steps instantly rang out then the clatter faded swiftly upon the night and silence returned.

For ten minutes nothing happened. Next, out of a lair not fifteen yards from the distorted dummy, rose a figure that shone white as snow under the moon. Mark Brendon approached the snare that he himself had set, shook the grass out of his coat, lifted his hat from the ball of leaves it covered, and presently drew on his knickerbockers, having emptied them of their stuffing. He was cold and calm. He had learned more than he expected to learn; for that startled exclamation left no doubt at all concerning one of the grave-diggers. It was Giuseppe Doria who had come to move the body, and there seemed little doubt that Brendon's would-be murderer was the other.

The operations of the detective from the moment that he fell headlong, apparently to rise no more, may be briefly chronicled.

With a loaded revolver still in his opponent's hand, he could take no risk and fell accordingly. Brendon had simulated death for a while, but when satisfied of his assailant's departure, presently rose, with no worse hurts than a bruised face, a badly bitten tongue, and a wounded shin.

Mark guessed that until darkness returned he might expect to be undisturbed. He walked back, therefore, to his starting-place and found the packet of food which he had brought with him and a flask of red wine left beside it.

After a meal and a pipe he made his plan and presently stood again on the rough ground beneath the cliffs, where he had pretended so realistically to perish. He expected Redmayne to return and guessed that another would return with him. His hope was to recognize the accomplice.

With infinite satisfaction he heard Giuseppe's voice, and even an element of grim amusement attended the Italian's shock and his subsequent snipe-like antics as he leaped to safety before an anticipated revolver barrage.

CHAPTER XV.

A GHOST

The next morning, while he rubbed his bruises in a hot bath, Brendon determined upon a course of action. He proposed to tell Jenny and her husband exactly what happened to him, merely concealing the end of the story.

He breakfasted, lighted his pipe and limped over to Villa Pianezzo. He was not in reality very lame, but accentuated the stiffness. Only Assunta appeared, though Brendon's eyes had marked Doria and Jenny together in the neighborhood of the silk-worm house as he entered the garden. He asked for Giuseppe and, having left Brendon in the sitting-room of the villa, Assunta departed. Almost immediately afterward Jenny greeted him with evident pleasure but reproved him.

"We waited an hour for supper," she said, "then Giuseppe would wait no longer. I was beginning to get frightened and I have been frightened all night. I am thankful to see you, for I feared something serious might have happened."

"Something serious did happen. I've got a strange story to tell. Is your husband within reach?" He must hear it, too, I think. He may be in some danger as well as others."

She expressed impatience and shook her head.

"Can't you believe me? But of course you can't. Why should you? Doria in danger? However, if you want him, you don't want me, mark."

It was the first time that she had thus addressed him and his heart throbbed; but the temptation to confide in her lasted not a moment. "On the contrary I want you both," he answered. "I attach very great weight to the hints you have given me—not only for my sake but for your own. The end is not yet as far as you're concerned, Jenny, for your welfare is more to me than anything else in the world—you know it. Trust me to prove that presently. But other things come first. I must do what I am here to do, before I am free to do what I long to do."

"I trust you—and only you," she said. "In all this devilment and misery, you are now the only steady fast rock to which I can cling. Don't desert me, that's all I ask."

"Never! All that's best in me shall be devoted to you, thankfully and proudly—not that you have wished it. Trust me, I say again. Call your husband. I want to tell you both what happened to me yesterday."

Again she hesitated and gazed intently upon him.

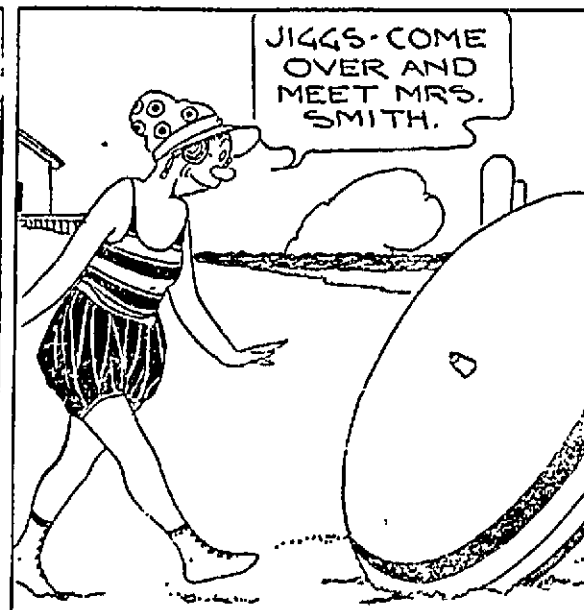

"Are you sure that you are wise? Would Mr. Gains like you to tell Doria anything?"

"You will judge better when you have heard me."

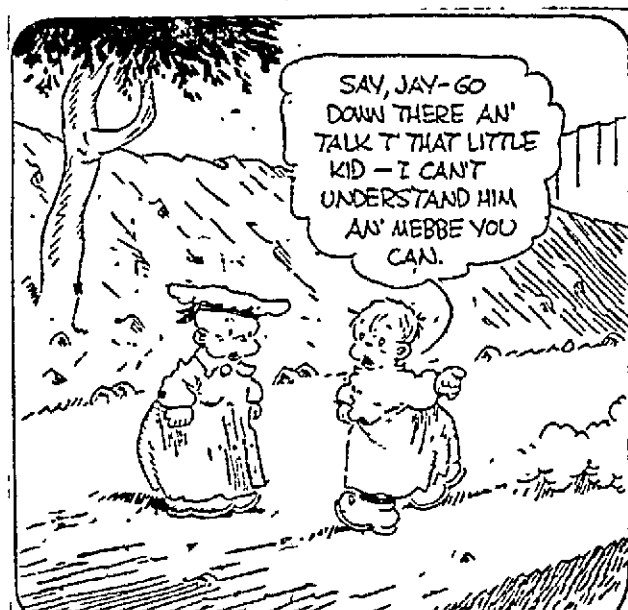

Again he longed to confide in her and show her that he understood the truth; but two considerations shut his mouth: the thought of Peter Gains and the reflection that the more Jenny knew, the greater might be her own peril. This last conviction made him conclude their conference.

Built Her Home With Own Hands

Omaha Woman Fulfilled Her Dreams Of Home Of Her Own By Building

Omaha, Neb.—When Mrs. R. A. Bolen points to her home and says, "This is my home," she's more entitled to that reflection than most women in the United States.

For not only is it her home—the home she lives in—but it's HER home, the product of her own hands, the home she built!

From foundation to gable, the new five-room bungalow on La Fayette Avenue, here, was put up by Mrs. Bolen alone. Of course she had to leave the plumbing and electrical work to licensed workers, but she did all the carpentry.

Working alone on the building, in corduroy knickerbockers, high boots and heavy work shirt, Mrs. Bolen completed her task in eight months. Her husband came around three or four times to look over the work and offer suggestions, and whenever she struck a snag, she says, she went to F. K. Stearns of the Updike Lumber Company, who'd tell her what to do.

OWN PLANS, TOO
"I've enjoyed every minute of it," she concludes, now that she's through. "My husband and I had been planning for two years on building a house," she explains. "We wanted it to suit ourselves, and our pocket-book, so we made our own plans."

"Mr. Bolen couldn't leave his business to supervise the building, so I decided I'd quit work and do it. After I'd watched the cement workers put the basement in, I decided I could do the carpentry work myself. So I started."

As proof she could, Mrs. Bolen points to her youthful days, when on a farm near Hlawatha, Kas. she'd rather handle farm machinery than wash dishes.

So building her own home wasn't so difficult after all.

"The hardest manual labor was putting up the framework," she says. "My 16-year-old brother helped me with the lifting."

BROKEN FINGER NAILS
Otherwise she did it all, even to putting in the windows, fitting the radiators, shingling the roof and boring the holes for the plumbing.

"I did sacrifice three or four finger nails," she confesses. "No, I didn't swear, but I'm not telling what I thought."

Finally, Mrs. Bolen figures she's ahead of the game.

"I'm sure I've saved as much as the salary I could have earned," she concludes, "and I feel certain that I've made a good investment by building in a growing part of town."

"And then there's the health side of it. I honestly never felt so well in my whole life."

A Regular Pourdown
The tatie-patch and the sas-patch garden and the posy garden were all drying up.

The little Ragdies had carried water and carried water, but it all seemed to be of no use.

Old Mister Sun was getting so hot and so thirsty that he drank up all the water the Twins and the little fairy folk could bring from the creek.

"I'm sure I don't know what to do next," panted poor little Mister Tatters as he set down an empty bucket. "It's like pouring water onto the kitchen stove. Snip! Snik! And it's gone! What we need is a good pouring rain. We haven't had one for a month."

"I think Mister Sprinkle Blow has gone to sleep up in the sky," declared Nick. "He usually has a lot of rain barrels full of rain. All he has to do is roll them out on a cloud and turn the spigot."

"Oh, Nick!" cried Nancy. "We have our magic shoes. Let's go up to Bluster Gust Land and see what is wrong."

"Oh, will you?" said little Mister Tatters gratefully. "I'd be ever so much obliged."

"We'd all be ever so much obliged," added Rag Tag. "Our backs are nearly broken carrying water."

So the Twins wished, and quick as two winks they were carried up and up and up through the air to Bluster Gust Land. They soon found Mister Sprinkle Blow's house and knocked loudly on the door. No answer.

Nancy tried the knob. It turned so they went in.

And there was Mister Sprinkle Blow sound asleep.

"Oh, my! Mr. goodness!" he exclaimed when he heard the dreadful state of affairs. "I ought to be ashamed of myself. Here, Nancy. Here, Nick. Help me roll out this barrel marked 'Regular Pourdowns.' Will you? Thank you. Now I'll turn the spigot."

Down on the earth the Ragdies were doing a dance. "That's a fine rain," they cried.

Woman First To Get "Motherhood" Degree

Kansas City, Mo.—"My mother's an A. B."

"Shucks, that's nothin'. My mother's a B. M."

It won't be long before just such echoes as these will drift from backyard marble games.

"Bachelor of motherhood" is the next degree that is coming if the plans of the Institute of Arts and Sciences at Independence, Mo., are carried to fulfillment.

The institute has just graduated its first student in "mothercraft," a course which was established last fall and which is the first course of its kind in the west.

Mrs. Anna Friend Roberts, mother of one small daughter, was the graduate.

Mrs. Roberts averaged two hours a day in attendance at the institute. She took six courses, education and psychology, history and social sciences, biology, English, art and observation and tactics.

A SCIENCE
"Mothercraft," according to Mrs. Flora Grimes, in charge of that department at the institute, has advanced beyond the baby bathing and dietetics stage.

Not only must a mother know how to prepare properly balanced menus for her family and how to sterilize the baby's milk bottle but she must keep up her grammar so well that she will never split an infinitive in Johnny's presence and she must furnish the living room so artistically that the children would rather stay home than go to the movies.

The course in education and psychology in the "mothercraft" department gives mothers pointers on understanding their children's mental reactions. Refractory boys and girls are studied psychologically.

A general course in history and social science enables mothers to decide Mr. John Prescott is paying the slightest personal attention to any other woman than Mrs. John Prescott's name will be "Dennis."

Then to cap the climax, I had a letter from mother the other day in which she plaintively asked me for money and lays it all to poor Leslie's extravagance, that I have not sent her any since I married.

"I know that is some of that old maid Bradford's dirty work. Come on over and advise me, Syd. I am in a devil of a mixup."

JACK.
TOMORROW: Alice Hamilton to her sister, Leslie—A confession about the necklace.

Some way, Syd, I don't seem to realize yet, when I am away from Leslie, that I am married at all. I expect I shouldn't let a fascinating flapper fill my eye when I pass her on the street. I know I would be jealous as the devil of Leslie if I thought she were smiling at any man, young or old.

Habits are stronger than marital ethics, however, and I have a great sympathy for that old fellow who said, "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Then I am worried. I must know it, Syd. I am terribly worried over Paula Perrier. I don't mind telling you that those letters are rather compromising and lately she has been acting very queerly.

I wonder what Leslie would do if Paula should send them to her. (She laughingly promised to do so the other night if I neglected her.)

Sometimes I am ready to make a clean breast of it to my wife. I really should have done so the other night when Leslie, apropos to something we were talking about, said that she did not think either a husband or wife had any business with the other's past; that one could ask of the other was that the present and future be his or hers in like devotion, loyalty and trust.

I really should have told her then, but that very day that asinine florist had sent her bill to the house instead of my office and on it was the sixteen dollars he had stung me for a basket of flowers. I had sent it to Paula when she had written me a sad little letter, saying she was sick and asking me to call upon her.

It seemed to me at that time that sixteen dollars was very little to pay for the privilege of staying away from her, but the notion that Leslie had put on the bottom of the bill was "The florist must have made a mistake. I have not received a basket of flowers." This put an entirely different complexion on the foul gift.

You could see, old scout, how much chance I would have had, after she had seen that bill, of making Leslie believe that I cared nothing more for Paula now when I told her of the tender passages between us before marriage and she had proof that I was still interested to the value of sixteen dollars.

Good Lord, Syd, I never dreamed that there were so many things that you had to look out for when you got married! A man has to "mind his P's and Q's" even with Leslie, who up to date has not shown any signs of being jealous.

Wardrobe For Vacation Needs Careful Choice

The wisely chosen vacation wardrobe will emphasize three important fashion points—selection of costumes in which everything matches or blends harmoniously in color from head to foot—a nice assortment of clothes of the type known as sports and semi-sports for the long day in the open and the most effective accessories one can afford to buy—for the success of a carefully planned outfit may be utterly submerged if incorrect bags, gloves and trinkets in incongruous colors are worn with it.

Decide first upon the color that will do justice to your eyes, hair and complexion. It is a fact that some colors achieve dowdiness in one woman and loveliness in another. If you know the color you should wear you will find your clothes problem much simplified.

Jewelry is worn in sets this season. Choker necklace, novelty bracelets and bizarre ear-rings of amber, jade, jet, pearl and combinations of different stones are the order of the day; and are worn at all hours of day and evening. A set for each costume would not be amiss.

Felt hats in gray, beige, French blue, black and light-green are worn with any type of day-time dress. They are easier to pack than other hats. A perfectly simple trimming is the use of veiling which is thrown over a felt or straw hat, and caught through slashes in the brim. For an afternoon frock is suggested a large-brimmed hat of organdy, taffeta or straw, with self-material drawn around the crown and tied in wing ends which are wired along the edges.

Innumerable are the styles in handbags, but—since they are made in all the prevailing colors—it is a simple matter to select one that will match the color of one's costume. Among the newer bags are finely plaited moire, adorned with tiny ribbon flowers. The plaited bag is also prominent in the new large envelope style, called the underarm bag, which is without a strap of any kind and must be carried flat in the hand or under the arm. Small floral-shaped beaded vanity cases are pretty things to carry with a sheer summer frock.

In the matter of low shoes, of course, no color gives more enduring service for all-around vacation wear than white buckskin, with colored kid-skin-trimmings to match your dress. Despite the fad for brilliant-colored footwear, brown, beige, gray and black and combinations of these colors are still the favorites of the well-groomed woman.—From The Designer.

High Heels Returning With Long Skirts Mean Proper Care For Feet

Pediatricist Says Sensible Shoes And Proper Exercise Will Eliminate Suffering Endured By 98 Per Cent Of Women

New York—Do you belong among the 98 per cent of the women of this country who have trouble with their feet?

If so, you may as well prepare for more trouble, according to Miss Eyre Campbell, pediatricist, and chairman of the public welfare committee of the Pediatric Society of New York.

"During the era of the flapper, sensible shoes came into vogue," she explains, "but the long skirts have brought back the higher heels and the attendant ailments of the foot."

Miss Campbell has studied feet for 15 years. She has also studied women, and she knows that the most healthful shoes are not the most chic, and that most women will stand discomfort rather than have their feet unbecomingly shod.

So she doesn't advise all women to wear sensible shoes all the time, for she knows they won't. But she does urge them to wear wide-toed shoes with low or only moderately high heels for general wear and save the exaggerated lasts and ultra-high heels for special occasions.

EXERCISE ESSENTIAL
Also she advises every woman to do a few exercises daily, especially for the feet, to correct certain defects caused by ill-fitting shoes.

"To lengthen and strengthen the muscles of the calf of the leg that have become shortened because of high heels bend forward as far as you can, not from the waist, but from the hips, so you can feel a pull on the leg muscles. Let your fingertips touch the floor if they will."

"A less strenuous exercise is to sit in one chair and put your feet in another. Then with the legs perfectly straight, pull as far back as you can with the toes."

"Standing on tip-toe is an excellent exercise for the muscles of the foot. Stand against the wall, if your feet are wobbly, and raise yourself as far on your tip-toes as you can go."

MUSCLE STRENGTHENERS
"Then stand arm's length from a chair, lean forward as far as you can without bending the knees keeping the feet on the floor."

"To stretch the muscles of your right leg, step forward on the left foot and bend the knee as much as possible while holding the right leg perfectly straight. To stretch the

Miss Campbell advises every mother to watch her children's feet and to see that the arches are kept normal and the shoes straight.

"It is in childhood that bad habits of walking and standing are formed that are most difficult to break," she says.

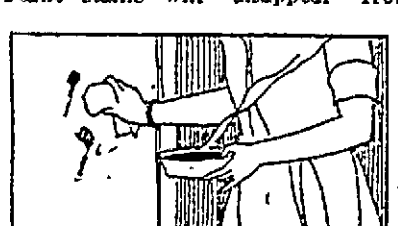

HIGH COLLARS
While it is not expected to become a popular style, the high collar is seen on some of the most chic costumes. Lingerie collars are not so favored as those of the material of the frock.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS FRIEND SIDNEY CARTON

DEAR SYD:

You are a friend. I'll tell the world. I didn't care what you called me after I saw the check. It made quite a substantial payment on my stock. In fact, the dividend was much more than I expected, consequently I was able to give the firm the check for the full amount due from me.

Some way, Syd, I don't seem to realize yet, when I am away from Leslie, that I am married at all. I expect I shouldn't let a fascinating flapper fill my eye when I pass her on the street. I know I would be jealous as the devil of Leslie if I thought she were smiling at any man, young or old.

Habits are stronger than marital ethics, however, and I have a great sympathy for that old fellow who said, "The spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Then I am worried. I must know it, Syd. I am terribly worried over Paula Perrier. I don't mind telling you that those letters are rather compromising and lately she has been acting very queerly.

I wonder what Leslie would do if Paula should send them to her. (She laughingly promised to do so the other night if I neglected her.)

Sometimes I am ready to make a clean breast of it to my wife. I really should have done so the other night when Leslie, apropos to something we were talking about, said that she did not think either a husband or wife had any business with the other's past; that one could ask of the other was that the present and future be his or hers in like devotion, loyalty and trust.

I really should have told her then, but that very day that asinine florist had sent her bill to the house instead of my office and on it was the sixteen dollars he had stung me for a basket of flowers. I had sent it to Paula when she had written me a sad little letter, saying she was sick and asking me to call upon her.

I have a very decided notion, however, that when Mrs. Leslie Prescott decides Mr. John Prescott is paying the slightest personal attention to any other woman than Mrs. John Prescott's name will be "Dennis."

Then to cap the climax, I had a letter from mother the other day in which she plaintively asked me for money and lays it all to poor Leslie's extravagance, that I have not sent her any since I married.

"I know that is some of that old maid Bradford's dirty work. Come on over and advise me, Syd. I am in a devil of a mixup."

COOL FRUIT DRINKS
Every woman likes to offer a long, cool drink to the chance caller on a hot summer's afternoon, but if she must spend most of the minutes of the call preparing the refreshment the caller is uncomfortable and the visit a failure. This informal serving is a real problem to the woman without a maid.

One solution is to keep fruit sirups on hand. If small fruits are canned by the open kettle method there is always a lot of extra juice. Save the extra sirup from each can and when through with the canning, re-secure the juice and seal in pint bottles or jars. Always be sure there is at least one bottle on ice. With the addition of water and cracked ice a refreshing drink is ready in the twinkling of an eye.

Fruit not perfect enough in shape for canning might be used for fruit sirup.

LEMON SIRUP
Three dozen lemons, 3 pounds sugar, 1 quart water.

Wash lemons and grate rind. Squeeze juice from lemons. Put grated rind, juice, sugar and water in a smooth sauce pan and bring slowly to boiling point. Let boil five minutes and pour into sterilized bottles or jars and seal while boiling hot. Be sure the bottles or can is full to running over when sealed. Cool and put one bottle on ice and store the rest in a cool, dark place. When wanted dilute with cold water. Lemon sirup on hand means a great saving of time in an emergency.

Why Tell the World you do your own work?

Pretty white hands for housewives. A new idea in a household soap—for kitchen and laundry

Your hands tell the world more than you would ever permit your lips to tell.

Ugly hands tell a story of kitchen work—of the dish pan and the scrubbing pal.

Pretty hands are a mark of gentility—as all the world knows.

You can have whichever kind you prefer. Just because you do your own work—maybe even the family washing—is no reason you should take every casual acquaintance into the secret.

5c a month for lovely hands

We have perfected a new household soap harmless to hands. It is called Green Arrow.

It is made with olive oil combined with other effective powerful cleansing ingredients.

Your Hands Tell the Story

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket.

Most women do housework. But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance.

Most laundry soaps contain 25 to 50% water glass. This adulterant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic. It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands. Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap.

Now you can have white and lovely hands regardless of how much kitchen work you do.

For your hands and your clothes sake, go to your grocer and insist on buying GREEN ARROW.

Try Green Arrow for one week. Then note your hands. It is all soap—no adulterant or "filler." It may cost you 5c a month more, but—

Don't figure the price of soap at so much per bar.

Hence it really costs less than soaps harmful to the hands.

At your grocers.

APPLETON TRIBE JOURNEYS TO SHEBOYGAN SUNDAY

Sylvester's Clan Has Good Chance To Climb To Top Rung Of Ladder

Pails, Chairs, Papermakers And Electricians Fight For State League Lead In Next Week's Contests

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE Fond du Lac at Green Bay. Menasha at Kaukauna. Marinette at Oshkosh. Appleton at Sheboygan.

The race for the State League pennant is closer than ever, with Sheboygan and Menasha tied for first, and the Papermakers immediately behind them. Sunday's contest takes his rising stars to the home of the Sheboygan clan, and will make a strong attempt to shove that aggregation out of its eminent position to make room for his own club.

PITCHERS' BATTLE Both Lathrop and "Buster" Braun are pitching wonderful ball these days, and the contest will be a duel between the two moundsmen. The Papermakers' fielding has shown great improvement in the last few games and with such potential hitters as Lathrop, Sylvester, Welsgerber, and Elliot on the team, the combination will be hard to beat.

Menasha is due to retain its position at the side of Sheboygan Sunday, when the Falls invade Kaukauna. The Electric city tribe is immediately below Appleton on the State League ladder, and if both the Papermakers and the Stumpticks win their Sunday battles, Appleton will advance to the attic, leaving Sheboygan, Menasha, and Kaukauna to fight for the next story to the top. None of the four leading clubs can be said to have an advantage over the others, and anything may happen to the standings before the season ends. All are determined to use every opportunity to grab first place and hold it, which makes the situation one of the most interesting in the diamond history of the state.

HORTONVILLE CLAN PLAYS DALE SUNDAY

Special to Post-Crescent. Klingle's Hortonville sluggers will oppose an invasion by the strong Dale baseball club Sunday, which gives them a chance to even up for the contest lost to that team some weeks ago. Since their defeat at the hands of the Dale tribe, the Hortonville men have improved their game considerably and are expecting a decisive victory. Fahlstrom, Klingle's pitcher, has had plenty of time to get the kinks out of his salary wad. The grounds at Hortonville, recently built at the fairgrounds, are in fine condition.

STATE LEAGUE NOTES

Harvey Stock, who early in the season pitched several games for Appleton, returned to State League circles last Saturday when he twirled Kaukauna to a 7 to 2 victory over the Twins. Stock was master of the situation at all times and he had little trouble marking up a win.

President McGilligan's presence on the bench served as a tonic for the Fondy Red Sox as they went out and copped a perfectly good ball game from the league leading Sheboygan club 5 to 4. The Fondy squad played errorless ball behind Weaver and were successful in bunching their hits off Braun.

Welsgerber, the Appleton first sacker, probably thinks it all bunn about Chief Williams being slow of foot. He hit one a mile to the rightfield fence but the veteran Redskin outfielder for the Lynchems timed the drive perfectly and picked the fast traveling pill from the uprights.

Wangemann's bad leg is standing up splendidly under the strain and the Sheboygan red sack guardian is playing a wonderful game for Liebl. Windy still has his old batting eye and he is connecting with due regularity. There isn't a better fielding third sacker in the McGilligan circuit.

Red Smith probably had a "private dining room" after the Green Bay game last Sunday. The recruit rightfielder of the Sylvester combination committed daylight robbery against the Bays. He pulled down three hard chances in the pasture and every one of them were ticketed for hits.

Art Kores is doing everything that is asked for him around the middle station for the Chairmakers. Kores is a veteran ball player and there is no wasted motion about his defensive tactics. He is clipping the ball quite often as his swatting average is right around the .300 circle.

Devilts, former Escanaba outfielder, has joined Bobby Lynch's clan at Green Bay. The new gardner made his first appearance on Sunday against Appleton. He handled two chances with the grace of a big leaguer in the outfield and got one blow in four times up against big Bill Lathrop.

Toronto—Percy Barrett of Toronto, won the professional golf championship of Canada in a 35 hole match with a score of 151.

YOUTHFUL GOLFER IS RUNNER-UP AT BLUE MOUND MEET

Michiwaukee Club Youngster, Reginald Scully, Second To Ned Allis With 71

This is an old story about Ned Allis. Something like it was first written back in 1911. It appears again today for the eighth time. The brilliant little Milwaukee Country club player, six times state champion including the present year and seven times medalist, won low honors in the qualifying round for the eighth time in the twenty-third annual state golf tournament at the Blue Mound Country club on Tuesday with a card of 68, two strokes under par.

Allis tripped out smoothly in 35, one under par, and returned in 33, three strokes more than the course record of 65, held jointly by himself and Jack Hutchinson. Reginald Scully, a 19 year old youngster of the Milwaukee club, who learned the vagaries of golf as a caddy at the Blue Mound course, finished second in the qualifying round with an excellent score of 71 on cards of 34 and 37.

HORSESHOE COURTS BEING BUILT AT 'Y'

Factories Plan On Organizing Barnyard Golf Teams In Near Future

Arthur P. Jensen, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., is about to get the Factory teams started on the good old game of barnyard golf. The addition to the Y. M. C. A. has been so far completed that the portion of the grounds formerly occupied by the building material has been cleared, which will permit the laying out of horseshoe courts immediately. This is to be done this week, and as soon as they are completed, elimination games will be started to determine the personnel of the factory teams.

Combined Locks and the Appleton Woolen Mills already are organized. These two teams have posted a standing challenge to any other team inclined to take it up, and are ready to play at any time.

Medics Kept Busy By Big Top Players

Detroit—Illness and injuries have played no little part in both major league races this season.

The hospital list, indeed, has been an extremely large one. Even more so than in other years.

And while most of the ailments have been more or less of a minor nature, still they have been serious enough to keep players out of the game for quite lengthy intervals with the usual moral and psychological effect to a team.

Perhaps the Detroit club has been one of the hardest hit. Player after player on the Tigers' roster has been forced out to the lineup through some cause or other. One cripple has followed another to the convalescent ward.

Bob Fothergill, with badly bruised ribs, was out of the game a week. Emory Rigney, suffering with an attack of lumbago, was out four weeks. Bobby Jones, with a fractured ankle, was missing from the lineup for six weeks. Fred Haney, down with a twisted ankle, was out three days.

Then Harry Heilmann was suspended for nearly a week for giving an umpire a brown derby as a token of his esteem.

Old Man Jinx certainly has been hot on the Tigers' trail. But practically every other team in the big leagues is having its troubles, too.

FORMER CHAMP IS OUT OF GOLF MEET

Milwaukee — Dick Cavanaugh, who captured the state championship five times, was not among the starters on Tuesday in the annual play for the Wisconsin title. Cavanaugh is too busy with business just now to spend a week playing golf, and though he was entered he reluctantly withdrew his entry early on Tuesday. He played with the Kenosha club team in the Yule cup event on Monday, finishing 2 up on battry.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Wid Mathews and Joe Hauser are going to have a homecoming in Milwaukee on Aug. 21 as Otto Berchert turned from Lake Geneva. Jensen has been in communication with the sports representatives of the industries of the Fox river valley, but owing to the advanced stage of the season they seem to regard it as too late to begin further athletic activities now. However, several of the factories have indicated their willingness to start, and it is possible that the others also will fall in line in a few days.

Harry Wills, the negro aspirant for heavyweight flistic championship honors, has laid his case before the New York State Boxing commission with the demand that they make Dempsey give him a crack at the title. These flistic moguls have de-throned some half dozen supposed-to-be champs for failure to fight and their action towards Dempsey will be watched with more than ordinary interest.

We believe President McGilligan of the Wisconsin State League made a wise move when he suggested to the managers that they order their pitchers to lay off "doctoring" the ball. There is danger in this form of hurling and it is far better to quit now before one of the players gets "beamed" as did George Metten last year in Menasha.

Staid old Pittsburgh is afflicted with a bad attack of baseballitis at the present time. The Pirates are right up there in the fight for the bunting in the National league race and the Smoke-town fans are showing their appreciation by fanning the ball park. There were 35,000 paid admissions at the double header on Monday when the Pirates gave battle to McGraw and his Giants.

Puzzling Plays By Daily Evans

THE PLAY Two are out, with a runner on first, in the last half of the ninth.

The batter hit a short fly to right field. The ball fell safe close to the foul line.

The runner on first had rounded third, when the coacher decided that the ball was foul. He ro advised the runner. The runner started to cut across the diamond to first. His teammates finally made him understand the ball was fair.

In the meantime the ball had been thrown to the third baseman. Realizing there was no chance to get back to third, the runner, from the center of the diamond dashed for second. The batsman marked first in safety.

The ball was thrown to the second baseman, who touched the runner originally on first, who advanced to third and then ran back to second. The runner was touched with the ball while on the bag.

WILLS PLEADS WITH N. Y. COMMISSION FOR CHANCE AT JACK

Gotham Athletic Moguls Discuss Dempsey-Firpo Battle In Tuesday Meeting

New York — The New York state athletic commission on Tuesday discussed the scheduled Dempsey-Firpo championship match and heard Harry Wills, negro heavyweight and his manager, Harry Mullins, plead for the first chance at the title but refused to declare its attitude in either case. The commissioners announced that Tex Rickard, promoter, had not made application for a license to hold the Dempsey-Firpo encounter, and that until he did they had no specific interest in the matter. They said they had had a "nice long conversation" with Wills and Mullins regarding Wills' claim of priority over Firpo in meeting the champion.

It is understood, they said in the papers Dempsey and Wills signed before the commission some months ago, that they would meet for the title. But they had seen nothing in the agreement that would prevent Dempsey from meeting another boxer first. They intimated, however, that when the Wills case was placed before them officially they would vote on it.

Appleton Must Play "Twins" Here Saturday

"Dutch" Sylvester is up a stump once again. President McGilligan ordered the Papermakers to play off a postponed game with the Marinette-Menominee Twins next Saturday, and most of the Appleton players are due to play with their "Factory" team at Combined Locks on that day. Sylvester has suggested his willingness to play off this hangover game on the morning of Labor day here, but although he has been chasing the State League president "by telephone" since Tuesday morning, he has not been able to connect with him. Consequently "Dutch" is squirming on the aforementioned high and jagged stump.

As the Twins are scheduled to play at Oshkosh Sunday, and the Papermakers invade the Chair city, it is almost impossible to arrange a double-header for that day for the Appleton clan, and unless President McGilligan relents in his decision to permit no further postponement of this game, the Papermakers will have to pick up what substitutes they can for the Lamers brothers, the two Smiths, Welsgerber, and Wenzel, and do their best to buck the Twins with a make-shift team.

The coacher created the situation. He tried to umpire as well as coach, with poor results.

When the runner originally on first reached third base on the short fly, which fell fair, he became the legal occupant of that base. When he ran back to second, standing on that bag did not exempt him from being put out, as he was legally the occupant of third. When touched with the ball, even though standing on second he was out.

WOMEN GOLFERS OF WISCONSIN MEET AT MADISON, AUG. 6-10

More Than 80 Players Expected To Enter For Qualifying Round Monday

Madison—The best of Wisconsin's women golfers are to determine the state championship over the Maple Bluff Country club course here, in the thirteenth annual tournament of Wisconsin Women's Golf association, August 6 to 10. It is expected that more than eighty players will start in the qualifying round.

Although the entry list will not be completed until August 4, it is certain that Miss Virginia Gittens of Green Fox River Country club, Green Bay, will defend her title of champion, won at last year's meet. At that time in the final round she defeated Miss Bernice Wall of the Oshkosh Country club, who has also announced she will play.

The committee in charge of the tournament has announced that there will be flights to accommodate all entrants. One of the chief objects of the tournament, it was said is to develop better women golfers in the state, and officials of the association feel that no better place can be found for such development than in tournament play. The prizes offered this season are on a par with those, which in the past have made this tournament the event which all women golfers of more than average ability have pointed during the season.

"GUNNER" JOE QUINN WINS BOUT WITH CANUCK CHAMP

Word has been received here by one of the many friends of "Gunner" Joe Quinn of St. Paul, who knocked out Jimmy Nuss at Armory G July 4, that the Gunner defeated the welterweight champion of Canada, Jack Reddick. The bout was staged at Moosejaw, Sask., July 27. Quinn won a referee's decision over the champion in twelve rounds.

Kinks-o' the Kinks by "PRO"

A boundary fence marks the prohibited area on a certain golf course. A player after driving from the tee discovers that his ball rests under the boundary fence, partly within and partly out of bounds. How should the ball be regarded "in bounds" or "out of bounds?"

The players must agree on the location of the ball. If a referee is in the case, he will decide.

Holy Cross Coach Says Carroll Has Fine Form

Jack Barry, former star shortstop of the Philadelphia Athletics, now coach at Holy Cross College, says that Pitcher Owen Carroll, crack twirler of that team, is a finished big league pitcher. Carroll is the pitcher that most every big league club has tried to sign. Those on the inside, however, say that the Detroit club of the American League has the young man's signed contract in the club safe. "Carroll will make good beyond a question if he goes to the big show," says Barry. "He is the best looking pitcher I have seen in college ball in years. Has plenty of stuff, including the poise and courage."

The Holy Cross collegian would be a staff at present, if able to win for the Tigers. Cobb's pitchers have looked poorly of late. This, in addition to the general inferior play of the entire club, rather removes Detroit from the position of leading contender for the time being at least.

charge of the match he reaches a decision. A ball is regarded as "out of bounds" when a greater part of the ball rests within the prohibited area. Often a fair line decision is required to decide a happening as related in the query. Smith and Jones are playing a match game. Smith has a caddy while Jones is looking after his own sticks. Jones needs a long putt to win the hole. Smith's caddy voluntarily stood at the hole, holding the flagstick. Jones makes what appears to be a perfect putt and as the ball was about to enter the cup the caddy jerks the stick and keeps the ball from entering the hole. What about such a play? Is there a penalty because Smith's caddy prevented the ball from entering even though he had no such intention or must Jones hole out the ball. No consideration can be given the intent of the caddy. Jones won the hole when his ball struck the flagstick held by Smith's caddy. Is there a difference in the penalty when a player in putting strikes his opponent's ball in match or medal play? There is considerable difference. In match play there is no penalty, and a player's opponent may replace his ball or not as he chooses. In medal play there is a one-stroke penalty, consequently it is always safer to ask your opponent who is closer to the hole to either lift his ball or play it. In medal play it is necessary that your opponent replace his ball in as near as possible to its original position. (Additional Sports on Page 11)

Hiring a New Office Boy

THE ideal business organization is one where, when a member of the Board of Directors leaves, there is a general advance all along the line; a new office boy is hired and the machine is complete in every detail.

It is toward such an ideal that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is striving.

In the selection of employees great care is taken to get young men who may be developed for positions of responsibility and trust. The results of this policy are to be seen by taking a careful check of the higher officers of this Company. Every one of these men has come up through the ranks, many from the lowliest beginning. They have won preferment by unusual fitness, by sheer ability and mastery of the particular work entrusted to their care.

It is this spirit of pure democracy which has made the organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) what it is today—a big, loyal, hard-working group of men and women, bound together by mutual consideration, respect and ambition.

The men in the ranks of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have constantly before them the examples of those now directing the Company's activities. They know that there is an open road ahead, and that for the men who show unusual aptitude in any department of the business; unusual ability to vision the future, or to direct the immediate, there are no limitations placed upon advancement. Such men taken from the ranks, will be the directing heads a few years hence.

This spirit, permeating every employe from the top to the bottom, keys the entire organization to a pitch of efficiency which enables the Company to render a superior service to 30 million people of the middle west.

MEDICS RELAX AS HARDING IMPROVES

might have complete rest. They had no idea, however, as to when the start would be made but that there was reason to believe the start might be made in about a week.

DOCTORS RELAX

The decided turn for the better was indicated in every possible way Tuesday night. General Sawyer went out for a walk about 9 o'clock, the first time he had been outside the hotel since the president was brought here Sunday. Returning, he spent half an hour or so in the president's room and then retired. The head nurse also took advantage of the change in her patient's condition and obtained some sleep. Lieutenant Commander Joel T. Boone, assistant to Dr. Sawyer, alone remained in the president's room or within call through out the night. Mrs. Harding having retired about midnight.

General Sawyer, after his last visit to the president's room and before going to bed, issued a brief statement as to Mr. Harding's condition. This noted a pulse of 116; temperature 100.2, and respiration 44, and ended by saying that he was "resting comfortably." Announcement was made shortly before midnight that no more bulletins would be issued until after the morning consultation Wednesday at 9 o'clock.

WAITS FOR STRENGTH

The betterment of the president's condition, however, did not lead to any serious discussion of the future program of the party. Whatever may be recommended, Mr. Harding will have final decision, and there is no intention of placing such matters as that before him until he gets back his strength. William Wrigley, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Secretary Christian, an invitation to the President and Mrs. Harding to spend the days of the former's convalescence at Catalina, where he has a large estate.

Neither was the change for the better immediately noticeable in diminution in the number of telegrams received. All through the early hours of the evening, messenger boys continued to make frequent trips with telegrams and the stream got under way again early Wednesday morning. Meantime, valiant efforts were being made to write and have signed acknowledgment of the wishes tendered and solicitude shown. Among these was a response to a telegram sent by former President Wilson. None of the messages was made public.

NUNS INTERCEDE

Washington—A vigil lamp, insuring her intercessory powers for the recovery of President Harding, is burning Wednesday at the shrine of the Blessed Teresa, the Carmelite nun, recently beatified by Pope Plus. In the Mt. Carmel national retreat house for women at Catholic university here. The lamp was lighted Tuesday night by the Franciscan Sisters of the Atonement, and will burn night and day until the president is officially pronounced out of danger.

BASING TO CONDUCT SPORT GOODS SHOP

Buck and Plamann's Sport Shop on Oneida street will have new owners within a few days, or as soon as a corporation can be formed to take over the business. Myrtle Basing, son of W. B. Basing and prominent Lawrence college athlete, will have the controlling interest and will be in charge of the establishment.

Mr. Basing has purchased the interest of one of the partners, and the plan is to have a group of stockholders assume the remainder so both Mr. Buck and Mr. Plamann can carry out their plans to withdraw. It is expected that the deal will be closed this week. Mr. Basing already has assumed management of the shop.

H. P. "Cub" Buck resigned recently as executive of Fox River Valley Boy Scout council in order to engage in the automobile business with Valley Inn Buick company of Menasha. Mr. Plamann again has been identified with August Brandt company.

CHURCHES HERE OBSERVE PORTUCALEA FESTIVAL

Special services to observe the feast of Portucalea are held in the Catholic churches here Wednesday and Thursday. St. Joseph church masses on Thursday will be at 5:15, 7, 7:30 and 8 o'clock.

FALL IN CARPET DEMAND DUE TO SMALLER ROOMS

By Associated Press
Berlin—As Germans moved into smaller living quarters, because of high rentals, the demand for floor coverings declined proportionately. At the same time prices continued high on account of the heavy import duties on raw materials and out of both these conditions there resulted a buyers' strike. People dispensed with new carpets, or got along with what they had before.

Now carpet prices have fallen from something to one-half but even so a domestic covering sells by twelve feet for the equivalent of $100, and there are few buyers.

All household furnishings bring good prices today in Germany, and many former officials of the old government have sold their apartment houses and furnishings for enough money to pay their way to some distant part of the world where life is again new.

Britain's only diamond cutting factory was established at Brighton in 1912.

SULLEY WILL PULL ASIDE CURTAIN OF FUTURE BUSINESS

Observations Of Wide Traveler Will Be Revealed In Talks Monday

Future trend of the retail business, and some of the competitive and marketing factors with which the average merchant will have to contend will be important features of the address which G. W. Sulley of Dayton, Ohio, will make here Monday, Aug. 6. He addresses the noon luncheon of the Lions club at Conway hotel, and a meeting of merchants and salespeople in the evening at the chamber of commerce rooms.

Mr. Sulley has gone into the important retailing sections all over the United States in his travels in the interest of better business. He has studied conditions closely and has conferred with those wholesalers and retailers who keep a constant finger on the pulse of business. He does not hesitate to tell the whole truth, as he

COUNTY COAL ORDERS SPLIT AMONG DEALERS

After allowing a number of bills presented for payment to the county, the grounds and building committee of the county board at its meeting Tuesday ordered the winter supply of coal for county buildings. The orders were divided among six coal dealers equally. Fifteen tons of Pocahontas mine run coal will be purchased from each of the following dealers: Balliet Supply company, John Haug and Son, Guenther Transfer and Supply company, Ideal Lumber and Coal company, Hettinger Lumber company and Marston Brothers.

sees it, concerning present and future conditions.

Effort will be made to bring out large audiences for both of his talks, because of their distinct value to the average business man. He has a faculty for awakening slumbering merchants, so to speak, and to add a few more ounces of enthusiasm to those who already are struggling to uphold their sales and keep abreast of the times.

The talks are absolutely free and every person who wants to benefit by them is invited by the chamber of commerce to be at the evening session.

REJECTED SUITOR FIGHTS RIVAL AND GETS BAD BEATING

Bodily Injuries Increase Woe Of Arthur Kunsman—Pays Visit To Court

"When Enoch Arden returned and saw his bride in the possession of another man"—Gee, but wasn't it tough?

But rather than swallow the bitter pill, the Enoch Arden of modern times, resolved to wreak vengeance on the man who had taken his place in the affections of the girl he hoped to marry.

That is why when Arthur Kunsman of Appleton read the announcement in the Post-Crescent Tuesday evening that Arthur Hoier of Ellington and Miss Marie Hattmastofer of Chelsea, Wis., had applied for a marriage license he considered his affections outraged.

He first proceeded, as many young men do in these cases, to get drunk. Then he went to Ellington in order to beat up his rival. But his rival did not intend to be beaten, so Kunsman

LAWYER SERVING FOR RUM CRIME CAN'T SELL STOCK

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Walter M. Burke, former Kenosha attorney, sentenced to Leavenworth federal prison for activities in connection with the Milwaukee-Kenosha liquor ring, will be served at the penitentiary with an order restraining him from disposing of stock in the defunct Waukegan Tea Co.

A request that the restrainer be served on him was filed and entered by Judge Oscar M. Fritz in circuit court.

PASSENGER INJURED

Worcester, Mass.—Several passengers were reported injured when a train on the Providence-Worcester division of the New Haven railroad was wrecked at Northbridge Wednesday. Four coaches were derailed.

realized after he had taken considerable punishment.

A call was sent for Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke who had the assailant brought to the city and lodged in the county jail. Inasmuch as the young man had received punishment enough in the fist encounter, Judge A. M. Spencer in municipal court Wednesday morning remitted the fine, but directed him to pay the costs which amounted to $11.30. The charge preferred against Kunsman was that of drunkenness.
